U.S. Widens Loan Action Of Ferrese

East Palestine And Columbiana Banks Included In Loans

Two more Columbiana County banks have been disclosed as victims of a stock certificate counterfeiting maneuver which has fleeced five area financial institutions out of at least $160,000.

They are the First National Bank of East Palestine and the Union Bank of Columbiana.

"Investigation indicates the amount involved will reach upward of $400,000," Nathanial R. Jones of Youngstown, an assistant U.S. attorney declared.

He filed additional charges at Youngstown late yesterday against James R. Ferrese, 39, of New Castle, Pa. On Monday, Ferrese had been arrested by the FBI in Pittsburgh and charged with interstate transportation of counterfeit securities.

CHARGES filed by Jones named five banks, but specified only $160,000. Jones said at least $400,000 was involved, however. In the Pittsburgh case, the FBI charged that Ferrese turned over to the Firestone Bank of Lisbon 3,000 counterfeit shares of Investors Stock Fund, Inc., of Minneapolis. These were valued at $63,300 and secured a $41,250 loan. Investors Stock Fund was described as a highly regarded concern.

Jones then filed charges that Ferrese similarly rooked the Farmers National Bank of suburban Canfield, the Union National Bank of Youngstown's Poland office, the First National Bank of East Palestine and the Union Bank of Columbiana.

Senate Gives Approval To Foreign Aid

Leaves Advocates Of Drastic Overhaul 'Licking Wounds'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional passage of President Johnson's $3.36-billion foreign aid authorization bill has left Senate advocates of a drastic overhaul of the program licking their wounds in defeat.

The Senate's battle with the House for a two-year authorization and a revamping of the overseas-aid format is certain to be renewed in the next session.

The Senate caved in Tuesday when it voted 67-27 passage of a bill tailored to House demands, and previously approved by that body. All it needs is Johnson's signature.

The amount of authorizations didn't even figure in the major dispute this year, and the long-agreed upon totals came within $97,670,000 of what Johnson asked.

The final amount that actually will be made available to finance the program will be fought out in a subsequent appropriations bill providing the money.

Here's what the Senate wanted, and for which its conferees argued unsuccessfully in 14 meetings with House negotiators extending over two months:

1. A two-year authorization to avoid the yearly struggle over foreign aid legislation and to give aid officials more time for planning their overseas military and economic assistance programs.

2. Termination of the program in its present form at the end of two years and the creation of a congressional committee to investigate its administration and recommend changes to reduce spending and concentrate future aid in countries where it will be most effective.

Given 'Go' For 5th Day

Astronauts Pass Halfway Point In Marathon Trip

SPACE CENTER, Houston, (AP)—Their beards itchy and their space cabin cluttered, the Gemini 5 astronauts today sailed past the mid-point in their marathon space voyage and were given a "go" for the fifth day.

They neared a U.S. space endurance record and the Soviet-held world record for a single flight of 54 minutes short of five days.

Command pilot L. Gordon Cooper Jr. long before had logged enough hours in space to claim the world record in that department. His wife, Trudy, relayed her congratulations to him in space.

He and Charles Conrad Jr. lost a little sleep Tuesday night dealing with housekeeping chores—and had to pass up a star check to catch up on nap time.

Conrad, talking to capsule communicator James A. McDivitt and describing the cramped quarters of the spacecraft said: "I have every piece of gear in the spacecraft out in my lap."

"Very, very good," said McDivitt who compiled four days in space. "Sounds like old home week."

The record for a single flight is held by Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky who orbited the earth for 119 hours and six minutes beginning June 14, 1963.

The Gemini 5 astronauts plan to pass that mark Thursday morning.

"Yeah," Cooper replied in a drawl. The medical sensors for taking heart rate and other measurements "are itching worse than the beard."

The inflatable pneumatic cuffs on Conrad's legs were causing some itching also.

But Conrad's manner was peppy in copying the details of the day's flight plan from Gemini control in Houston. It prompted this exchange:

Mission Control: "You guys are sounding better all the time, Pete. you must like it up there."

Conrad: "well, we're getting used to it."

By 9:29 a.m. EDT the Gemini 5 had completed 60 orbits.

The Gemini 5 spacecraft whipped around the world almost flawlessly as it neared the end of the mission's fourth day at 8:59 a.m. (EST). That's the halfway mark.

Comfortable in their cramped, weightless quarters, the two spacemen appeared sure to ride the skies the full eight days. All systems were "go."

By 3:43 a.m. (EST) they had completed 57 orbits.

One hour beyond the halfway point, Cooper and Conrad could claim the American record for being in space longer than any other member of the nation's astronaut team.

Cooper and Conrad planned to turn their eyes to the Atlantic Ocean during their 62nd orbit in hopes of catching a glimpse of 16 visual sighting panels spread over the flight deck of the USS Lake Champlain, the primary recovery ship.

They saw the ship's wake, but not the panels, as the vessel churned through the ocean southwest of Bermuda Tuesday.

The two bearded spacemen are pleasing the doctors who keep constant tabs on them from earthly stations around the world. But the astronauts don't seem to be getting as much sleep as some flight officials would like.

Missile Shoots Down U.S. Plane

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — A U.S. Navy phantom jet plane has been shot down by what appeared to be a surface-to-air missile about 90 miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman reported today.

The supersonic plane, from the 7th Fleet aircraft carrier Midway, was hit Tuesday near the city of Thanh Hoa, the spokesman said.

The downing was the first indication that Communist antiaircraft missiles have been moved as far south as Thanh Hoa. It seemed likely that the missile was fired from a mobile launcher.

One parachute was seen after the Phantom was hit, but search and rescue operations failed to locate the American airman. The other crewman is presumed dead, the spokesman said.

Two other American planes have been downed in the past month by missiles which Soviet technicians are presumed to have installed in North Viet Nam. U.S. officials believe Soviet personnel are helping to man the missile launchers.

The spokesman said the Phantom downed Tuesday was flying support for an armed reconnaissance mission. It was hit on or near the tail, he said, and the pilot of the wing aircraft reported a missile probably was responsible.

U.S. planes attacked two missile sites north of Hanoi last month, and the pilots reported one was knocked out and the other damaged. U.S. pilots are known to be looking for mobile missile sites outside the Hanoi area as potential targets, but they reportedly have had little success.

Pair Charged With Holdup, Kidnap Of 2

FERNLEY, Nev. (AP)—Two desperate gunmen in a wild modern saga of the Old West, have been charged with robbing a California tavern at bayonet-point, kidnaping a couple on a 250-mile flight and holding 11 hostages before 100 officers surrounded them in a lonely Nevada farmhouse.

Mrs. Alice Clements, 40, one of the hostages, commented after the 13-hour drama ended Tuesday that the two men were "just a couple of scared kids."

Charged with kidnaping and robbery were James R. Gourlay, 21, of Detroit, Mich., and John D. Colvan, 20, Hudson Falls, N.Y. Both told officers they are Army enlisted men.

The two had planned to try to escape across the Nevada desert on horseback, but apparently changed their mind after saddled horses were brought to the farmhouse for them by a Lyon County deputy sheriff.

The men had threatened to harm the hostages if the horses weren't made ready.

Some shots were fired by officers during the three hours Gourlay and Colvan held off 100 FBI, Nevada highway patrol and sheriff's deputies from inside the Fernley farmhouse of Gill Clements.

City Resident Pays $350 To Repair Fakes

An East Liverpool woman was cheated of $350 Tuesday by two men posing as employes of a home repair concern, police reported.

Mrs. Mary C. Pearce, 518 College St., told officers she gave a $300 check and $50 in cash to the men, believing they were employed by a local concern which was to make repairs on her home, then learned the two were fakes.

Mrs. Pearce said the pair stopped in front of her home about 11 a. m. yesterday in a station wagon and said: "Let's see this work that has to be done."

The men examined the roof and the interior of the home and then told her the job would cost $400, Mrs. Pearce related. When she protested she did not have $400, the men said they would do the work for $350, she told officers.

Mrs. Pearce then wrote a $300 check payable to "cash" and paid the balance in currency. The men left, promising to return soon and get started on the job.

Mrs. Pearce said she thought the men were employes of a reputable local concern which she had contacted to do the repair on her home. When they failed to return, she telephoned the local contractor, who said he had not sent a crew to her home.

Mrs. Pearce reported the incident to police at 4:30 p. m. Officers classified the theft as a case of "larceny by trick."

Threatens National Crisis?

U.S. Taking 'Hard Look' At Negro Families Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnson administration officials reportedly are taking a hard new look at a confidential report warning that disintegrating Negro family life threatens a nationwide racial crisis.

The report, circulated widely among top federal officials before the Los Angeles riots, reportedly has been getting increased attention since the trouble there.

The report, made available to The Associated Press, says that despite recent civil rights legislation the social and economic plight of most Negroes appears to be getting worse instead of better, particularly in big city ghettos.

It says the root of the trouble is that three centuries of slavery and discrimination have robbed the Negro male of his sense of manhood, leading to a crumbling family structure.

"The very essence of the male animal from the bantam rooster to the four-star general is to strut," said the report. But, historically, the instincts of the American Negro male have been suppressed, it added.

"Indeed, in the 19th century America, a particular type of exaggerated male boastfulness became almost a national style. Not for the Negro male. The 'sassy nigger' was lynched," the report said.

The report, prepared by the Labor Department's Office of Policy Planning and Research and dated last March, has not been made public officially. The department gave no reason for

Union Board Due To Sift Steel's Offer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Directors of the United Steelworkers Union meet today for a briefing on steel talks amid strong indications from a union source that a new industry contract offer has been found unacceptable.

Seven days remain before the union is free to strike the nation's basic steel industry at midnight Aug. 31.

The 33-member executive board was expected to consider an industry offer estimated at between 9 and 13 cents an hour.

Indications were, however, that union negotiators were unhappy with the offer and that if it was presented to the board it would be rejected.

The union has been demanding an increase of 17.9 cents an hour for 450,000 members in basic steel who now average $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits. It won 11.5 cents an hour in an interim contract that expires Sept. 1.

County Youth Hurt As Car Strikes Bike

A 12 - year - old Columbiana area boy was reported in "serious" condition at a Youngstown hospital late this morning after his bike was struck by a car in front of his home, hurling him 40 feet.

Jeffrey Jon McMasters, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMasters of near Columbiana, suffered head and leg injuries when his bike was struck almost head-on by a car operated by his neighbor, Samuel Jackson, 52, of Columbiana R.D. 2 at 7:25 a. m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the youth was riding his bike behind a farm tractor and wagon operated by Gene Turney, 28, of Columbiana.

The boy was about to help unload corn from the wagon which was moving toward his home on County Rd. 440, a half-mile west of Columbiana.

The youth turned left toward his own driveway and went into the path of the oncoming the path of the oncoming 1963 coach driven by Jackson. The impact smashed the bike and tossed the boy 40 feet, according to the patrol.

The boy was taken to Salem City Hospital, then transferred to Southside Hospital at Youngstown, still unconscious, officers reported.

The report, made available to The Associated Press, says that despite recent civil rights legislation the social and economic plight of most Negroes appears to be getting worse instead of better, particularly in big city ghettos.

It says the root of the trouble is that three centuries of slavery and discrimination have robbed the Negro male of his sense of manhood, leading to a crumbling family structure.

"The very essence of the male animal from the bantam rooster to the four-star general is to strut," said the report. But, historically, the instincts of the American Negro male have been suppressed, it added.

"Indeed, in the 19th century America, a particular type of exaggerated male boastfulness became almost a national style. Not for the Negro male. The 'sassy nigger' was lynched," the report said.

The report, prepared by the Labor Department's Office of Policy Planning and Research and dated last March, has not been made public officially. The department gave no reason for

Union Board Due To Sift Steel's Offer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Directors of the United Steelworkers Union meet today for a briefing on steel talks amid strong indications from a union source that a new industry contract offer has been found unacceptable.

Seven days remain before the union is free to strike the nation's basic steel industry at midnight Aug. 31.

The 33-member executive board was expected to consider an industry offer estimated at between 9 and 13 cents an hour.

Indications were, however, that union negotiators were unhappy with the offer and that if it was presented to the board it would be rejected.

The union has been demanding an increase of 17.9 cents an hour for 450,000 members in basic steel who now average $4.40 an hour in wages and benefits. It won 11.5 cents an hour in an interim contract that expires Sept. 1.

County Youth Hurt As Car Strikes Bike

A 12 - year - old Columbiana area boy was reported in "serious" condition at a Youngstown hospital late this morning after his bike was struck by a car in front of his home, hurling him 40 feet.

Jeffrey Jon McMasters, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMasters of near Columbiana, suffered head and leg injuries when his bike was struck almost head-on by a car operated by his neighbor, Samuel Jackson, 52, of Columbiana R.D. 2 at 7:25 a. m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the youth was riding his bike behind a farm tractor and wagon operated by Gene Turney, 28, of Columbiana.

The boy was about to help unload corn from the wagon which was moving toward his home on County Rd. 440, a half-mile west of Columbiana.

The youth turned left toward his own driveway and went into the path of the oncoming the path of the oncoming 1963 coach driven by Jackson. The impact smashed the bike and tossed the boy 40 feet, according to the patrol.

Electronics Used To Spot Stolen Cars

NEW YORK (AP) — New York police showed how they are using electronics to spot stolen cars and traffic violators Tuesday — and their computer promptly nailed a housewife.

Four busloads of officials and newsmen, invited to the demonstration by police officials, unloaded on the grassy shoulder to watch.

Mrs. Placente, 34, suddenly cast as the star in a premiere demonstration of Operation Corral, was not pleased. She was served a summons for failure to pay a fine on a charge of running a stoplight on May 5, 1964.

"What am I — some kind of criminal?" she asked. "It's a good thing I have steady nerves. You can drop dead from a thing like this."

Mrs. Placente was on her way to the beach as police demonstrated Operation Corral — computer oriented retrieval of auto larcenists.

The system works this way:

License numbers of stolen cars and cars of persons who have ignored traffic summonses are stored in the memory drum of a computer at the World's Fair. They number about 196,000.

Police stationed along a roadway radio license numbers of passing automobiles. The numbers are fed into the computer, which instantly compares them with the memorized numbers.

If any match, a signal is flashed and a patrol car stationed further along the road is alerted. The process takes less than half a minute.

Police, who have been using the computer on loan from the Sperry Rand Corp. since May 27, said it has resulted in 2,000 arrests.

Trial Planned For Driver In 2-Way Crash

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today set a hearing Sept. 10 for Curtis A. Shanks, 25, of Weirton, cited by police after a two-way crash this morning at 7:21 on Harvey Ave. about 70 feet east of Bushwick St.

Shanks is accused of failure to obtain a West Virginia driver's license after moving from Wellsville to Weirton.

He was cited by Patrolman Orin C. Smith, who said Shanks' 1960 model four - door sedan hit a parked 1960 car owned by Richard V. Pack, 2207 Harvey Ave. The crash damaged the left rear of the Pack auto and the right front of the Shanks vehicle, officers said.

Shanks told police he formerly resided at 423 10th St., Wellsville, and moved to 2917 Washington St., Weirton, following his recent marriage. The court granted the continuance to permit Shanks to obtain a West Virginia license.

Two more motorists were fined today and a bench warrant was ordered for another who failed to appear.

Connie L. Crossley, 20, of 3139 Harding Ave. was fined $5 and costs when she pleaded guilty to a charge of making an illegal turn at E. 5th and Washington Sts. She was cited Tuesday at 4:10 p.m., police said.

Dwight W. Fong of Pittsburgh was fined $15 and costs on a charge of driving left of center Monday on Pennsylvania Ave. at Elizabeth St. He was cited by police after a collision on a curve involving his auto and a steel-laden tractor-trailer. Fong pleaded guilty.

The court issued a bench warrant for Carl Reed, 213 W. 6th St., who failed to appear on a charge of crashing a traffic light Tuesday at 4:11 p.m. at W. 6th and Jefferson Sts. Reed had been released on his own recognizance to appear today.

Some At UN Doubtful Of Peace Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Some diplomats at the United Nations doubt that the Yemen peace pact signed by President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Faisal will end the civil war in the Arabian peninsula country.

One diplomat recalled the 1963 agreement between the president of the United Arab Republic and Faisal which was supposed to end the Yemeni war but didn't. He predicted new quarrels between the rival Arab leaders.

Another diplomat questioned the ability of Nasser and Faisal to bring peace between the Egyptian - backed Republicans and the Saudi-backed Royalists. He said the three-year-old fighting has turned into tribal warfare and the Republicans are split into pro-Egyptian, pro-Syrian and religious factions.

Neither the Royalists nor the Republicans were represented at the talks between Nasser and Faisal in the Saudi Arabian port of Jidda. Observers in Cairo believed that the Republican government would go along with Nasser, but there was no clue to the reaction of the ousted ruler of Yemen, Imam (king) Mohammed Al-Badr, who is holed up in the Yemeni Mountains with tribesmen loyal to his cause.

Woman Killed, 5 Suffer Injuries In Pike Accident

SWANTON, Ohio (AP) — A woman was killed and five other persons were injured early today in a crash on the Ohio Turnpike near here involving two tractor-trailer rigs and an automobile.

The dead woman, a passenger in the car, was burned beyond recognition when the vehicle's gasoline tank burst into flames following the crash. The Highway Patrol withheld her identity pending notification of her next of kin.

James E. Long, 25, of Bettsville, Ohio, driver of the overturned rig, suffered bruises but did not require hospitalization.

The driver of the other rig, Norman P. Meis, 38, of Lomira, Wis., and his passenger, Robert Steele, 30, of Route 1, Stinger, Wis., were admitted to Toledo Hospital with cuts and bruises.

A man and another woman in the car were reported in serious condition at Toledo Hospital. They were not identified immediately.

Boyd Urges Quick Action On Shadyside

Columbiana County Commissioner James Boyd said today the commissioners are willing to participate in a joint improvement project on Shadyside Ave., but are awaiting a formal request from East Liverpool city officials.

Boyd said he personally is in complete sympathy with the efforts of residents of the Shadyside Ave. to have the narrow hillside road widened and improved.

But he said that their appeals to the state and federal governments are "misdirected." He said, "The road is a local responsibility and should be handled as such."

For a number of months the residents — in the latest of a series of moves over the past years — have urged the city to widen the road to eliminate the hazards for autos and school buses.

The roadway lies partly in East Liverpool and in Liverpool Township. The latter section is County Rd. 427.

Boyd said the commissioners have gone on record as being willing to participate in the cost of improvement, "but that is as far as the commissioners can go until a formal and definite request is submitted by the city."

Boyd said he understands plans for widening the roadway and resurfacing it with installation of a sidewalk have been prepared.

At a Council meeting Aug. 16 Council was advised the plans were ready and the street committee was to confer with the commissioners.

"If any work is to be done this year, it is urgent that the Council committee request a meeting with us as soon as possible to work out the details," Boyd said.

"The committee would receive a cordial welcome and my personal utmost cooperation," he concluded.

Mock Indian Battle Set For Brilliant Saturday

Chief Logan's Raiders, a group of 20 to 25 East Liverpool area men and women in authentic savage dress, will have a principal role in a mock Indian battle against "Colonial troops" that will be staged Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Brilliant High School football stadium.

The battle will be a highlight of a homecoming celebration at Brilliant. Tom Devlin, 934 Commerce St., Wellsville, is "chief" of the Indian group.

The setting will include an Indian village and Colonial fortresses. The make-believe Indians participated in a battle in 1964 at a Lisbon village celebration. They are residents of East Liverpool, Wellsville and Chester.

Let The People Decide

The Ohio House of Representatives will have an opportunity next week to place another reapportionment proposal before the voters.

We hope the House will meet the challenge to carry out what we always have believed to be a legislative responsibility, rather than abdicating to the federal court.

And we hope that if House Speaker Roger Cloud is able to corral the necessary 92 votes — and this will be a gargantuan task — that the Senate will accept the House version rather than insisting on the proposal it passed last month.

Rep. Cloud, we believe, has devised a plan that could be accepted readily by the people of Ohio. As chief architect of the proposal rejected by the voters last May, he has followed the only logical course and has drafted a plan which meets most of the objections raised by opponents of the ill-fated Issue No. 3.

MOST IMPORTANTLY, the new House plan retains a provision for subdistricting the three largest counties — Cuyahoga, Hamilton and Franklin — and permits further subdistricting by local option in counties electing more than one representative.

The plan is eminently fair in that it gives local election boards the first crack at subdistricting. The state apportionment board would step in only if local boards failed to agree after 60 days.

The subdistricting proposal is expected to draw opposition from Democrats who always have balked on this issue because it would break the party's stranglehold on the big Cuyahoga delegation.

But it is inconceivable to us how Democrats can argue for reapportionment on a one-man, one-vote basis and in the same breath oppose subdistricting, which is a logical extension of that concept. Republican suburbs of Cuyahoga County deserve representation just as pockets of Democratic voters in predominantly Republican counties deserve representation.

Cloud's plan calls for a larger House—increased from 137 to 171 members—by permitting counties within 15 per cent of 55,465 population to elect one representative.

This means fewer counties would have to be combined and more would retain individual representation. And the plan spells out which counties would be combined, leaving nothing to guesswork and eliminating another objection raised by Democrats and organized labor last May.

The fact that any county lines have to be crossed to achieve districts of nearly equal population is regrettable, but Cloud has kept these to a minimum.

WHILE WE HAVE been impatient with the legislature for dragging its feet on reapportionment following the defeat of Issue 3, we commend Speaker Cloud for sticking with this thankless task and coming up with a satisfactory substitute.

If the legislature fails to act now, the matter goes back to the federal courts for disposition.

We urge the legislature to keep in mind that this proposal deals with a vital section of the Ohio Constitution. That document belongs to the people. If it is to be changed, the people, not the courts, should do it.

The Station Will Stay

The importance of rail connections to Lisbon was underscored in this week's ruling by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission in turning down a proposal by the Erie - Lackawanna Railroad to suspend operation of the freight station at the Columbiana County seat.

Lisbon's location on busy Route 30 certainly is advantageous from a truck transport viewpoint, but the 4,367 carloads of freight handled at the community in 1964 reveal the growing rail traffic there. There were 2,108 carloads handled in 1963.

Outbound coal constitutes almost 90 per cent of the Lisbon rail business and the transfer of freight headquarters to Niles would have been a handicap to the area shippers, the PUCO indicated in its ruling.

But more important, Lisbon businessmen and leaders have been stirring themselves for some months now in an effort to bring new industry to the center of the county and the loss of a local freight office undoubtedly would have hampered this undertaking.

The Erie - Lackawanna undoubtedly is in a financial pinch and has to curb expenses in some areas.

But cutting out a freight office in a growing traffic center and reducing the attraction which a potential industry might consider in moving to this center does not seem a likely move in this instance.

Lisbon leaders deserve a sincere salute from Columbiana Countians for this example of how to fight back in the rugged competition of today's business and financial world.

Jitters In Kashmir

While Secretary of State Dean Rusk appears confident Red China is not prepared to follow up its tough talk with action in Viet Nam, he and other U.S. officials have reason to be jittery about China's involvement in another volatile area along the India-Pakistan border.

There is no indication now that Red China has entered the prolonged conflict over the state of Kashmir, but the threat remains immiment as long as India and Pakistan refuse to settle their differences.

Fighting along both sides of the ceasefire line established 16 years ago by the United Nations has grown hotter in the last two weeks.

THE CURRENT dispute was initiated by Pakistan and Indian Prime Minister Shastri is threatening to pour more forces into the skirmish.

India has more available fighting muscle than Pakistan and if Shastri does press the fighting, Pakistan's Ayub Khan would have nowhere to look for help except to the Chinese Communists.

Pakistan, which has shown a disturbing tendency to link arms with Red China, belongs to two U.S.-sponsored treaty organizations—the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the Central Treaty Organization.

Complicating the situation are Russia's overtures to India. The Soviet Union already has missiles planted around New Delhi, has given jet fighters to India and has announced plans to build a MIG factory for India.

Word out of Washington is that U.S. officials feel privately that Pakistan's claim to Kashmir is legitimate. But there is no official stand because we don't want to alienate India at a time when we're trying to beef up its military strength as a bulwark against Red China.

FURTHERMORE, this country has more than a billion dollars in aid invested in both India and Pakistan.

Unless the two nations can effect a settlement with or without the help of the United Nations, the United States may soon have to get off the fence and come up with a new approach in its Far Eastern strategy.

It will, for sure, if Red China moves into the fray.

Peace Talk Prospect Dim

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

After U.S. Marines shattered the Viet Cong at Chu Lai last week the Johnson administration reportedly had hopes the North Vietnamese might now like to talk peace. The prospect still looks dismal.

In Moscow Tuesday the North Vietnamese Embassy laid down a condition that the United States must agree to a troop withdrawal from Viet Nam before there can be any negotiations.

After President Johnson last Feb. 7 ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam the White House issued a statement:

"The key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication from the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbors."

Then on April 7 at Baltimore Johnson made a speech in which the only precondition for peace talks was that there be no conditions:

"There may be ways to find peace. . . we remain ready. . .for unconditional discussions."

But in the same speech he had laid down conditions for the only kind of final settlement the United States would accept:

"An independent South Viet Nam—securely guaranteed and able to shape its own relationships to all others — free from outside interference — tied to no alliance — a military base for no other country."

On April 11 an editorial in the official Hanoi newspaper bluntly said: "We fight to the end." And on April 13 the North Vietnamese Reds produced their own program as a basis for negotiations:

1. Withdrawal of all U.S. forces from South Viet Nam, an end to attacks on North Viet Nam, and recognition of the territorial integrity of all Viet Nam.

2. Pending peaceful reunification of North and South Viet Nam, all foreign troops had to be withdrawn.

3. Settling South Viet Nam's problems by the South Vietnamese people themselves in accordance with the Viet Cong's program.

Translated, this said the South Vietnamese must accept the Viet Cong as boss. South Viet Nam's refusal to do so is what the war is all about.

4. Peaceful reunification of all Viet Nam without "any foreign interference."

American officials promptly rejected this Communist proposal as a plan to deliver South Viet Nam to the Reds.

And on April 17 Johnson said the United States intended to stay in Viet Nam "until independence is secure but to leave when independence is surely guaranteed.

"Until that independence is guaranteed there is no human power capable of forcing us from Viet Nam. . .We are ready to begin discussions next week, tomorrow, or tonight."

Ever since, while the war gets worse, not better, Johnson has been awaiting the world. What the North Vietnamese Embassy in Moscow said Tuesday is hardly the word.

Okay, How Do You Plead?

Hoffa Ready For Election Fight

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa is in real big time these days, working out some of the world's most desperate problems. He has been conferring with some Soviet Embassy officials — principally in the cultural section.

Victor Riesel

Reports of these talks indicate that Mr. Hoffa has a new source of grievance. Apparently neither the White House nor the Kremlin has consulted him on practical solutions to the vexing Viet Nam.

Recently, after the Russian cultural attache left his own presidential palace, Hoffa turned to some Teamsters' officials and simply scorched the "egghead" approach to the Saigon - Hanoi crisis. It's really simple, explained Hoffa, all that needs to be done is to draw a line across Viet Nam and tell the Communist forces they can't go beyond the demarcation.

So it can readily be seen that Hoffa's real difficulties these days are with the smaller problems:

How can he stay out of prison?

If he can't, then how can he retain the Teamsters' presidency while behind bars? And how can he raise hundreds of thousands of dollars to repay the brotherhood for its monies used by him for legal fees during his criminal trials since 1959?

THIS LATTER ITEM would be of significance since the Internal Revenue Service already has indicated that such usage, when determined, would be added to his reportable income for tax purposes — and it does appear to be a figure running into financial astronomics.

We'll soon know exactly how much. The details actually are in government hands. The Labor Department's Compliance Division of its office of Labor - Management and Welfare - Pension Reports has had agents probing the Teamsters' books since the first week in July.

The Teamsters at first had objected to Secretary of Labor Wirtz' efforts to look into the brotherhood's records to determine just how much of the Teamsters' funds had gone for Hoffa's legal defense. But Mr. Wirtz went into court. On June 3, the Supreme Court upheld the government and the special agents went over to the marble headquarters.

The Labor Department went in because of a suit filed by six members of Philadelphia Teamsters Local 107 against Hoffa and other national union officials to force them to repay the money spent by Hoffa, for his personal defense. The rebel Teamsters could not get at the national records so Mr. Wirtz moved under 601. This gives him the right to search through union books — and industry's, too — if he believes it necessary to make an investigation.

WHAT HE HAS learned he can divulge to those who are suing the national leaders. Hoffa would then be faced with the grim possibility of returning the huge expenditure out of his personal accounts.

He can, of course, count on several Hoffa relief fund campaigns launched by his friends. They have been raising funds for some time. But the heat has not been on. Now, just how much heart could be put into the help Hoffa campaigns becomes a difficult matter to assess.

In a few months he may be in prison and his friends may be seeking another strong man. The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals has turned him down once on the jury - tampering conviction appeal. Now it has given him 45 days in which to prepare papers for a rehearing. But it is not likely that the court, having ruled unanimously against him once will reverse itself.

As for the Supreme Court, the word is that some legal minds in Hoffa's entourage have advised him that it has only reversed 1½ per cent of the cases in which courts of appeal have ruled unanimously. This puts the odds at more than 50 to 1 that Hoffa will be rejected by the high tribunal before next June.

BUT HOFFA is hoping that the ruling will be delayed. Though, he has not made it public, he has ordered a national Teamsters' convention for next July (1966) in Miami Beach. With thousands of delegates expected, the national union already is preparing hotel accomodations, halls and agenda.

If Hoffa still is out on bail on his eight-year conviction, he will return the convention into a wild demonstration for himself. This he can do. The delegates will be his. They will almost unanimously re - elect him general president. There will be no real opposition from the men who will start cutting him down the moment a cell door closes.

If he is re-elected he can legally retain his office even in prison. and the centralized powers of the Teamsters' national office are such that he could dominate the organization even from Atlanta.

So, when he has the time to take out of solving global problems the "eggheads" can resolve, he studies some delaying tactics of his own.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Dr. Charles H. Bailey of Park Blvd., a member of the City Hospital staff, was admitted as a "Fellow" in the American College of Surgeons.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — After two years as Ohio's senior golf champion, J. M. Wells relinquished his crown to Frank Pelton of Cleveland in competition at Mansfield.

TEN YEARS AGO — Harold B. Schell of Carolina Ave., Chester, made the dean's list at Wittenberg College.

Howard Phillips of Kensington R. D. 1 and Phyllis Hively of Columbiana were crowned as Columbiana County 4-H king and queen during the County Fair at Lisbon.

The Pennsylvania Department of Welfare approved a 96-acre site in Brighton Township for Beaver County's new country home and hospital.

Cold-Plus!

It was a cold, very cold day in August when the temperatures dropped to 127 degrees below zero F.—the lowest ever recorded on earth.

The record was set at Vostok, Antarctica, some 800 miles from the South Pole, on Aug. 24, 1960. The earth's coldest region, Antarctica is most frigid when the northern hemisphere is enjoying summer.

"The familiar sharp feel of the cold was more searing than usual," Dr. Siple wrote. "When I faced the light breeze, the vapor in my breath blew back into my face and condensed instantly on the gray straggles of my 10-month-old beard.

"Instinctively I held up my hand to protect my nose and cheek from the fury of the cold; it felt, paradoxically, like the attack of leaping flames. At temperatures such as this a nose can freeze in seconds with a needle-sharp prick, or 'ping,' as we called it.

"Within a few steps my Army polar boots, made of a special low-temperature rubber composition, froze solid as cast iron."

GRIN AND BEAR IT By George Lichty

A Stronger U.N.

By David Lawrence

U. S. Action May Have Helped World Organization

It's an ill wind that blows no good. Luckily the controversy over the failure of certain governments to pay peace-keeping expenses levied by the United Nations could result in a stronger rather than a weaker mechanism for the maintenance of peace in the world.

David Lawrence

The time may come when the American people will be benefitted not only by what France and Russia unwittingly accomplished in refusing to pay certain expenses of the United Nations but by what America did in announcing that it also will feel free hereafter to pay or refrain from paying certain expenses that may be imposed by the organization.

The real point at issue, which has not been stressed in the public discussions, is that the United Nations is not today and never was intended to be a superstate — a world government capable of invading at will the sovereignity or independence of any nation. The United Nations was designed to be and is really a federation of states whose members are authorized by its charter under Article 51 to take collective action for their own defense and for the defense of any other nations that may request it or need it—as in the case of South Viet Nam.

But collective action means voluntary action, and no nation which chooses to remain aloof can be required to pay the expenses of any war or peace-keeping operation of which it wishes not to be a part.

THE U.N. CHARTER, under Article 17, merely says the General Assembly shall approve "the budget of the organization" but there is a far different meaning to the word budget than has recently been given to it. The budget refers to the normal operations of any organization. Mindful of this difference, the same Article 17 provides that the General Assembly "shall consider and approve any financial and budgetary arrangements with specialized agencies" and make recommendations to them.

It's clear that a sovereign nation cannot be compelled against its will to participate in the work of the specialized agencies of the U.N., as these extend from social and economic problems to the handling of a variety of activities by nations voluntarily seeking to improve the general welfare of certain countries or regions.

What then constitutes "dues"? Certainly it means the expenses of the main body and not those of any other agencies. Under Article 19 of the charter, "a member of the United Nations which is in arrears in the payment of its financial contributions to the organization shall have no vote in the General Assembly." The word used is "financial contributions" and not "expenses" or "dues."

It will be recalled that France and other members as well as the Soviet Union refused to pay any peace-keeping expenses incurred by the U.N. when it mobilized certain military units of various nations to move into the Middle East and the Congo. The French government argued that only its own elected parliament could levy taxes on the French people.

THERE ARE those who contend that the U.N. Charter permits the assembly to seek "advisory opinions" from the International Court of Justice and that such an opinion was rendered approving of assessments being imposed by the assembly.

The answer made to this point is that the charter cannot thereby be changed to apply to any signatory member. Any amendments must be ratified, as provided in the original document, by the "respective constitutional processes" of each member state.

The fundamental principle of the United Nations Charter, moreover, is that nations shall work together collectively on a purely voluntary basis. Otherwise, a group of nations interested in promoting aggression and imperialism throughout the the world—as, for instance, the Soviet Union and Red China—could some day take possession by majority vote of the United Nations Assembly and order the United States to do its bidding.

It will be argued that in the Security Council, this country, like Russia, has a veto.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the General Assembly in recent years has endeavored to do what the Security Council was thought to be obligated to do —to take measures to keep the peace. Ignoring the veto system of the Security Council, a majority of the 115 nations in the General Assembly could attempt to tell even the United States what it must do.

So it boils down to whether the U.N. is to be a super-government or a federation of states which permits individual members to act voluntarily in joining or refraining from participating in peace-keeping operations.

The responsibility for stopping aggression now has been placed squarely on the voluntary alliances of nations, where it belongs, and if they do not have the military and economic force to do the job collectively in special situations that arise, the U.N. would hardly have achieved it either by arbitrarily levying assessments for expenses.

Aches And Pains

By William L. Ryan

Communist North Viet Nam has severe economic aches and pains from the war in the South and U.S. air action against northern territory.

The United States is listening for hints from Hanoi of any shift in its all-or-nothing demands on behalf of the Viet Cong in the South. Evidently North Viet Nam's economy hurts badly, and a change in its attitude because of that cannot be excluded.

Hanoi insists the U.S. bombings have failed to damage its economy, but for the past five months its internal propaganda has belied this claim. The big question is whether Hanoi, in exchange for cessation of the bombings, would support a truce in the South to permit negotiations.

The United States pours $2.5 million to $3 million daily into the war.

President Ho Chi Minh's government seems to regard the aid it has been getting from the Communist world as niggardly. It has advised its public to "do away with the mentality of relying on foreign assistance" and "promote industry, plain living and thriftiness."

Premier Pham Van Dong told the national Assembly last April: "We must rely mainly on our own resources while doing our best to win the sympathy and assistance of the world's people, first of all the fraternal Socialist countries."

Since then, the squeeze probably has become more painful.

Figures on the cost of the war to North Viet Nam are lacking. Communists do not discuss such things openly. Red regimes presumably chip in to sustain Hanoi's defenses or help finance aid to the Viet Cong.

Red China gives no figures on its aid to Hanoi. Moscow in June 1964 said it had invested the equivalent of $350 million in the Hanoi regime, apparently all in economic aid. That was before the U.S. bombings in the North. Since then Moscow presumably installed costly missile sites. Other Communist countries promised help , but no announcements have been made on what, if anything, was delivered.

Hanoi has made no announcement about increased taxes or other measures to finance war preparations. In fact, it claims it has even been able to lower some consumer prices. The evidence is that Hanoi is trying to pay its way by total mobilization and belt-tightening measures.

North Viet Nam suffered losses from floods and typhoons in 1964. Now it has met new difficulties in mobilizing men and women to train for possible fighting, draining needed manpower from food and industry production.

The government has indicated it had difficulty meeting food requirements, saying it just "managed to meet part" of the requirements to insure supplies and equipment to goods and consumer industries.

Peace Talk Prospect Dim

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

After U.S. Marines shattered the Viet Cong at Chu Lai last week the Johnson administration reportedly had hopes the North Vietnamese might now like to talk peace. The prospect still looks dismal.

In Moscow Tuesday the North Vietnamese Embassy laid down a condition that the United States must agree to a troop withdrawal from Viet Nam before there can be any negotiations.

After President Johnson last Feb. 7 ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam the White House issued a statement:

"The key to the situation remains the cessation of infiltration from North Viet Nam and the clear indication from the Hanoi regime that it is prepared to cease aggression against its neighbors."

Then on April 7 at Baltimore Johnson made a speech in which the only precondition for peace talks was that there be no conditions:

4. Peaceful reunification of all Viet Nam without "any foreign interference."

American officials promptly rejected this Communist proposal as a plan to deliver South Viet Nam to the Reds.

And on April 17 Johnson said the United States intended to stay in Viet Nam "until independence is secure but to leave when independence is surely guaranteed.

"Until that independence is guaranteed there is no human power capable of forcing us from Viet Nam. . .We are ready to begin discussions next week, tomorrow, or tonight."

Ever since, while the war gets worse, not better, Johnson has been awaiting the world. What the North Vietnamese Embassy in Moscow said Tuesday is hardly the word.

Hoffa Ready For Election Fight

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa is in real big time these days, working out some of the world's most desperate problems. He has been conferring with some Soviet Embassy officials — principally in the cultural section.

Victor Riesel

Reports of these talks indicate that Mr. Hoffa has a new source of grievance. Apparently neither the White House nor the Kremlin has consulted him on practical solutions to the vexing Viet Nam.

Recently, after the Russian cultural attache left his own presidential palace, Hoffa turned to some Teamsters' officials and simply scorched the "egghead" approach to the Saigon - Hanoi crisis. It's really simple, explained Hoffa, all that needs to be done is to draw a line across Viet Nam and tell the Communist forces they can't go beyond the demarcation.

So it can readily be seen that Hoffa's real difficulties these days are with the smaller problems:

How can he stay out of prison?

If he can't, then how can he retain the Teamsters' presidency while behind bars? And how can he raise hundreds of thousands of dollars to repay the brotherhood for its monies used by him for legal fees during his criminal trials since 1959?

THIS LATTER ITEM would be of significance since the Internal Revenue Service already has indicated that such usage, when determined, would be added to his reportable income for tax purposes — and it does appear to be a figure running into financial astronomics.

We'll soon know exactly how much. The details actually are in government hands. The Labor Department's Compliance Division of its office of Labor - Management and Welfare - Pension Reports has had agents probing the Teamsters' books since the first week in July.

The Teamsters at first had objected to Secretary of Labor Wirtz' efforts to look into the brotherhood's records to determine just how much of the Teamsters' funds had gone for Hoffa's legal defense. But Mr. Wirtz went into court. On June 3, the Supreme Court upheld the government and the special agents went over to the marble headquarters.

The Labor Department went in because of a suit filed by six members of Philadelphia Teamsters Local 107 against Hoffa and other national union officials to force them to repay the money spent by Hoffa, for his personal defense. The rebel Teamsters could not get at the national records so Mr. Wirtz moved under 601. This gives him the right to search through union books — and industry's, too — if he believes it necessary to make an investigation.

WHAT HE HAS learned he can divulge to those who are suing the national leaders. Hoffa would then be faced with the grim possibility of returning the huge expenditure out of his personal accounts.

He can, of course, count on several Hoffa relief fund campaigns launched by his friends. They have been raising funds for some time. But the heat has not been on. Now, just how much heart could be put into the help Hoffa campaigns becomes a difficult matter to assess.

In a few months he may be in prison and his friends may be seeking another strong man. The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals has turned him down once on the jury - tampering conviction appeal. Now it has given him 45 days in which to prepare papers for a rehearing. But it is not likely that the court, having ruled unanimously against him once will reverse itself.

As for the Supreme Court, the word is that some legal minds in Hoffa's entourage have advised him that it has only reversed 1½ per cent of the cases in which courts of appeal have ruled unanimously. This puts the odds at more than 50 to 1 that Hoffa will be rejected by the high tribunal before next June.

BUT HOFFA is hoping that the ruling will be delayed. Though, he has not made it public, he has ordered a national Teamsters' convention for next July (1966) in Miami Beach. With thousands of delegates expected, the national union already is preparing hotel accomodations, halls and agenda.

If Hoffa still is out on bail on his eight-year conviction, he will return the convention into a wild demonstration for himself. This he can do. The delegates will be his. They will almost unanimously re - elect him general president. There will be no real opposition from the men who will start cutting him down the moment a cell door closes.

If he is re-elected he can legally retain his office even in prison. and the centralized powers of the Teamsters' national office are such that he could dominate the organization even from Atlanta.

So, when he has the time to take out of solving global problems the "eggheads" can resolve, he studies some delaying tactics of his own.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Dr. Charles H. Bailey of Park Blvd., a member of the City Hospital staff, was admitted as a "Fellow" in the American College of Surgeons.

The class of 1922 of Rogers High School held a reunion on the White Hall School campus.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — After two years as Ohio's senior golf champion, J. M. Wells relinquished his crown to Frank Pelton of Cleveland in competition at Mansfield.

TEN YEARS AGO — Harold B. Schell of Carolina Ave., Chester, made the dean's list at Wittenberg College.

Howard Phillips of Kensington R. D. 1 and Phyllis Hively of Columbiana were crowned as Columbiana County 4-H king and queen during the County Fair at Lisbon.

The Pennsylvania Department of Welfare approved a 96-acre site in Brighton Township for Beaver County's new country home and hospital.

Cold-Plus!

It was a cold, very cold day in August when the temperatures dropped to 127 degrees below zero F.—the lowest ever recorded on earth.

The record was set at Vostok, Antarctica, some 800 miles from the South Pole, on Aug. 24, 1960. The earth's coldest region, Antarctica is most frigid when the northern hemisphere is enjoying summer.

"The familiar sharp feel of the cold was more searing than usual," Dr. Siple wrote. "When I faced the light breeze, the vapor in my breath blew back into my face and condensed instantly on the gray straggles of my 10-month-old beard.

"Instinctively I held up my hand to protect my nose and cheek from the fury of the cold; it felt, paradoxically, like the attack of leaping flames. At temperatures such as this a nose can freeze in seconds with a needle-sharp prick, or 'ping,' as we called it.

"Within a few steps my Army polar boots, made of a special low-temperature rubber composition, froze solid as cast iron."

A Stronger U.N.

U. S. Action May Have Helped World Organization

It's an ill wind that blows no good. Luckily the controversy over the failure of certain governments to pay peace-keeping expenses levied by the United Nations could result in a stronger rather than a weaker mechanism for the maintenance of peace in the world.

David Lawrence

The time may come when the American people will be benefitted not only by what France and Russia unwittingly accomplished in refusing to pay certain expenses of the United Nations but by what America did in announcing that it also will feel free hereafter to pay or refrain from paying certain expenses that may be imposed by the organization.

The real point at issue, which has not been stressed in the public discussions, is that the United Nations is not today and never was intended to be a superstate — a world government capable of invading at will the sovereignity or independence of any nation. The United Nations was designed to be and is really a federation of states whose members are authorized by its charter under Article 51 to take collective action for their own defense and for the defense of any other nations that may request it or need it—as in the case of South Viet Nam.

But collective action means voluntary action, and no nation which chooses to remain aloof can be required to pay the expenses of any war or peace-keeping operation of which it wishes not to be a part.

THE U.N. CHARTER, under Article 17, merely says the General Assembly shall approve "the budget of the organization" but there is a far different meaning to the word budget than has recently been given to it. The budget refers to the normal operations of any organization. Mindful of this difference, the same Article 17 provides that the General Assembly "shall consider and approve any financial and budgetary arrangements with specialized agencies" and make recommendations to them.

It's clear that a sovereign nation cannot be compelled against its will to participate in the work of the specialized agencies of the U.N., as these extend from social and economic problems to the handling of a variety of activities by nations voluntarily seeking to improve the general welfare of certain countries or regions.

What then constitutes "dues"? Certainly it means the expenses of the main body and not those of any other agencies. Under Article 19 of the charter, "a member of the United Nations which is in arrears in the payment of its financial contributions to the organization shall have no vote in the General Assembly." The word used is "financial contributions" and not "expenses" or "dues."

It will be recalled that France and other members as well as the Soviet Union refused to pay any peace-keeping expenses incurred by the U.N. when it mobilized certain military units of various nations to move into the Middle East and the Congo. The French government argued that only its own elected parliament could levy taxes on the French people.

THERE ARE those who contend that the U.N. Charter permits the assembly to seek "advisory opinions" from the International Court of Justice and that such an opinion was rendered approving of assessments being imposed by the assembly.

The answer made to this point is that the charter cannot thereby be changed to apply to any signatory member. Any amendments must be ratified, as provided in the original document, by the "respective constitutional processes" of each member state.

The fundamental principle of the United Nations Charter, moreover, is that nations shall work together collectively on a purely voluntary basis. Otherwise, a group of nations interested in promoting aggression and imperialism throughout the the world—as, for instance, the Soviet Union and Red China—could some day take possession by majority vote of the United Nations Assembly and order the United States to do its bidding.

It will be argued that in the Security Council, this country, like Russia, has a veto.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the General Assembly in recent years has endeavored to do what the Security Council was thought to be obligated to do —to take measures to keep the peace. Ignoring the veto system of the Security Council, a majority of the 115 nations in the General Assembly could attempt to tell even the United States what it must do.

So it boils down to whether the U.N. is to be a super-government or a federation of states which permits individual members to act voluntarily in joining or refraining from participating in peace-keeping operations.

The responsibility for stopping aggression now has been placed squarely on the voluntary alliances of nations, where it belongs, and if they do not have the military and economic force to do the job collectively in special situations that arise, the U.N. would hardly have achieved it either by arbitrarily levying assessments for expenses.

Aches And Pains

By William L. Ryan

Communist North Viet Nam has severe economic aches and pains from the war in the South and U.S. air action against northern territory.

The United States is listening for hints from Hanoi of any shift in its all-or-nothing demands on behalf of the Viet Cong in the South. Evidently North Viet Nam's economy hurts badly, and a change in its attitude because of that cannot be excluded.

Hanoi insists the U.S. bombings have failed to damage its economy, but for the past five months its internal propaganda has belied this claim. The big question is whether Hanoi, in exchange for cessation of the bombings, would support a truce in the South to permit negotiations.

The United States pours $2.5 million to $3 million daily into the war.

President Ho Chi Minh's government seems to regard the aid it has been getting from the Communist world as niggardly. It has advised its public to "do away with the mentality of relying on foreign assistance" and "promote industry, plain living and thriftiness."

Premier Pham Van Dong told the national Assembly last April: "We must rely mainly on our own resources while doing our best to win the sympathy and assistance of the world's people, first of all the fraternal Socialist countries."

Since then, the squeeze probably has become more painful.

Figures on the cost of the war to North Viet Nam are lacking. Communists do not discuss such things openly. Red regimes presumably chip in to sustain Hanoi's defenses or help finance aid to the Viet Cong.

Red China gives no figures on its aid to Hanoi. Moscow in June 1964 said it had invested the equivalent of $350 million in the Hanoi regime, apparently all in economic aid. That was before the U.S. bombings in the North. Since then Moscow presumably installed costly missile sites. Other Communist countries promised help , but no announcements have been made on what, if anything, was delivered.

Hanoi has made no announcement about increased taxes or other measures to finance war preparations. In fact, it claims it has even been able to lower some consumer prices. The evidence is that Hanoi is trying to pay its way by total mobilization and belt-tightening measures.

North Viet Nam suffered losses from floods and typhoons in 1964. Now it has met new difficulties in mobilizing men and women to train for possible fighting, draining needed manpower from food and industry production.

The government has indicated it had difficulty meeting food requirements, saying it just "managed to meet part" of the requirements to insure supplies and equipment to goods and consumer industries.

Greek Premier's Bid Seen Good For Endorsement

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Elias Tsirimokos appeared today to have an even chance to win endorsement from the Greek Parliament. The confidence vote on his crisis government was expected to be so close that a single deputy might decide it.

As he spoke thousands of police patrolled downtown Athens to keep order and prevent further rioting in the 41-day-old crisis.

Works Group Strikes Over Pay Hike Issue

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) —The entire Public Works Department of the City of Huntington went on strike today in a dispute over a pay raise.

The city had offered a 25 cent an hour increase to be fully effective in four years.

The department consists of garbage men, street maintenance workers, truck drivers and sewer workers.

this. Nor does it indicate whether it ever will officially release the report.

Johnson quoted extensively from it last June, however, in announcing a White House conference for November aimed at helping Negroes secure their rights.

Johnson, in citing a breakdown in Negro family structure, accepted the basic premise of the report.

"For this, most of all, white America must accept the responsibility," he said. "It flows from centuries of oppression and persecution of the Negro man. It flows from the long years of degradation and discrimination which have attacked his dignity and assaulted his ability to provide for his family."

Daniel P. Moynihan, former assistant secretary of labor for policy planning and research, helped prepare the report before he resigned to enter New York City politics.

A task force of officials of several federal agencies worked on it.

The report, still officially confidential, goes much further than depicting an alarming breakdown among Negro families.

It describes current Negro unrest as no less important than the original American revolution and says it may be crucial to whether the nations of the world eventually divide along color lines.

"It is clear that what happens in America is being taken as a sign of what can, or must happen in the world at large," the report says.

It called the Negro plight the nation's most dangerous social problem.

In documenting the breakdown in Negro family structure, the report cites government figures showing that nearly 25 per cent of all Negro births are illegitimate, compared with about 4 per cent for whites.

Similiarly, about 25 per cent of all married Negro women are divorced or separated from their husbands, compared with about 8 per cent for white women.

The report also contained a racial breakdown of armed forces mental tests, showing that 56 per cent of Negroes fail it, compared with 15.4 per cent for whites.

The armed forces test measures ability to perform at an acceptable level of competence for military life.

"It roughly measures ability that ought to be found in an average 7th or 8th grade student," the report said.

"A grown young man who cannot pass this test is in trouble," it added.

Ohio's Tax Laws Will Be Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A study of Ohio's tax laws will be made by a 15-member commission under emergency legislation signed today by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The governor said the study should be of "great potential useful purpose to the taxpayers of Ohio" and should concern itself with collection methods and means of dividing revenues.

"It is an inventory of the system's machinery," he said, "to see if it is doing the job needed to meet state needs."

Sabotage Ruled Out In Crash Of Plane

HONG KONG (AP) — U.S. consulate officials brushed aside talk today that sabotage caused the crash of the U.S. Marine transport plane in which 58 American servicemen died in Hong Kong Bay.

Most of the victims were U.S. Marines returning to the war in Viet Nam. Thirteen of the 71 aboard survived.

Sources at Hong Kong Airport said the plane's navigator was in contact with the airport control tower until seconds before the crash Tuesday.

By nightfall 30 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of the C130 Hercules, which was pulled from 30 feet of water seven hours after the crash.

Rescue workers said they did not expect to find all the remaining 28 bodies.

Which Is The Best?

Consider Days Of Week

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Friends, let us consider the days of the week. Which is the best?

The earnest thinker long has considered Friday as a better boon to man than the dog.

No survivor of the work week can successfully challenge this conclusion.

But I would like to put in a word for Wednesday. It is the true day when mankind stands upon the summit of himself. It is the day of absolute human integrity.

All days have their reasons for being. Let us consider their values.

Monday is liked by people who study yoga, who enjoy beating their freedom against a discipline, who swim in the surf off Coney Island in the winter and get their pictures in the papers for doing so.

For the rest of humanity Monday is a long ugh-h-h. It is a day when childhood goes back to school, man to his duty, and woman considers what to do with last week's laundry.

Those who consider the virtues of Tuesday, I am afraid, must face the fact that it is really at most an escapist's advance beyond Monday. Its only other use is that it is the prime time of the week on which to borrow money.

It isn't important whether a man really needs the money. Nobody who is asked to lend money on Tuesday asks what it's for. He may demand a reason any other day—but never on Tuesday. He will simply fork out.

We now skip to Thursday, and will come back to Wednesday later. Thursday is the day before Friday. Thursday is the day you promise to pay money back but don't. Thursday is the soft suffocation of all endeavor. Thursday is the day when you begin to explain to yourself why you haven't done so far this week what you don't intend to do on Friday.

Everybody knows what Friday is for. It is the day of the long lunch, the glad leap from responsibility, the plunge into the liberty of the weekend. It is the day to hide from the guy you borrowed money from on Tuesday and promised to pay back on Thursday.

Saturday is for going to football games, admiring the way your wife cuts the grass, or artfully raking fallen leaves so that the wind will blow them into your neighbor's yard. It is also a great night to watch late shows on television while you wonder what part of the town your children are painting crimson.

Sunday is for considering heaven and endeavor and brooding about the inconsideration of a divine injustice that has ordained Monday as the next day. It also is the best day to jump in the family buggy and make impossible journeys to far away friends who didn't expect you at the table and from whose home it takes you until midnight to return.

This, friends, leaves us the wealth of Wednesday. Wednesday is the peak of the week.

It is the necessary bridge between the ordeal of Monday and the freedom of Friday. It is the one day of the week when people can achieve purpose.

Anybody who can't get something done on Wednesday doesn't really know how to waste the rest of the week constructively. He is only kidding himself.

Tour Of Agencies Set In Beaver Fund Drive

Beaver countians will have an opportunity to see their United Fund at work during organized tours and a public "open house" at the seven agencies involved Sept. 17, 18 and 19.

Final arrangements for the program were made this week by a committee headed by Wilbert E. Fisher, executive director of the Beaver Coanty chapter of the American Red Cross.

Open for public inspection will be the Association for the Blind Workshop, 616 4th Ave., Beaver Falls; the Beaver Valley YMCA, 3rd Ave., New Brighton; the Beaver County Children's Home on Penn Ave. in New Brighton; the Beaver - Castle Girl Scout Camp Fombelina in Fombell; the Beaver County Home for the Aged, 1450 3rd Ave., New Brighton; Lintz Sheltered Workshop for Retarded Children, 117 Brighton Ave., Rochester, and the Red Cross Blood Bank, 1305 3rd Ave., New Brighton.

All of the county's civic clubs, local unions and major employers are urged to plan organized tours of these agencies on Sept. 17. The tours will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Complete viewing of all seven agencies will take from 2 to 2½ hours. Groups of from 10 to 35 people can be accommodated. Tour arrangements may be made by writing the United Funds of Beaver County, P. O. Box 191, Rochester, Pa., or calling 774-3210.

On Saturday, Sept. 18, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Sunday, Sept. 19, from 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m., the same agencies will be open to the general public. No advance arrangements are necessary.

Everyone, including children, is welcome to attend. During the general public open house every 43rd visitor will receive a small prize. This is symbolic of the 43 agencies supported by the annual United Fund drive.

"We feel that every Beaver Countian should see his United Fund dollars hard at work helping children and the aged, handicapped people being made useful, emergency blood being made available and youth being trained for citizenship," said Myron J. Demeter, 1965 UF campaign chairman and Ambridge plant manager of the Armco Steel Corp.

This year's tour and open house program is the first of its kind to be conducted in Beaver County. In previous years each agency held programs on an individual basis.

The "Follow Your Dollars" tour is being held in conjunction with the campaign for $864,490 which will support 43 voluntary agencies and services during 1966.

Which Is The Best?

Consider Days Of Week

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Friends, let us consider the days of the week. Which is the best?

The earnest thinker long has considered Friday as a better boon to man than the dog.

No survivor of the work week can successfully challenge this conclusion.

But I would like to put in a word for Wednesday. It is the true day when mankind stands upon the summit of himself. It is the day of absolute human integrity.

All days have their reasons for being. Let us consider their values.

Monday is liked by people who study yoga, who enjoy beating their freedom against a discipline, who swim in the surf off Coney Island in the winter and get their pictures in the papers for doing so.

For the rest of humanity Monday is a long ugh-h-h. It is a day when childhood goes back to school, man to his duty, and woman considers what to do with last week's laundry.

Those who consider the virtues of Tuesday, I am afraid, must face the fact that it is really at most an escapist's advance beyond Monday. Its only other use is that it is the prime time of the week on which to borrow money.

It isn't important whether a man really needs the money. Nobody who is asked to lend money on Tuesday asks what it's for. He may demand a reason any other day—but never on Tuesday. He will simply fork out.

We now skip to Thursday, and will come back to Wednesday later. Thursday is the day before Friday. Thursday is the day you promise to pay money back but don't. Thursday is the soft suffocation of all endeavor. Thursday is the day when you begin to explain to yourself why you haven't done so far this week what you don't intend to do on Friday.

Meals were being consumed on schedule, but still aboard was that first day's supply, which was not eaten because of the astronauts' hectic pace in the troublesome early hours of the mission.

Cooper became the champion of outer space at 9:47 p.m. (EST) Tuesday when the craft whirled over the Atlantic on the 54th orbit.

He surpassed Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky's mark of 119 hours and 6 minutes by including the logged time on this flight with the 34 hours and 20 minutes of his Faith 7 Mercury mission in 1963.

Cooper and Conrad seem to be progressing well in the various experiments on the flight plan, having completed several photographic and communications exercises.

Trouble developed in a radar locking system aboard the craft when it tried to zero in on a beacon mounted on a tower at Cape Kennedy. Conrad was not able to report a correct range. Flight officials blamed this on the apparent failure of a locking device in the radar unit.

Other minor problems: a fuse blew in one of the back-up computers at mission control and was replaced. A cabin temperature gauge on the spacecraft quit functioning, and the astronauts now use hand-held thermometers to check the cabin temperature.

Flight officials and crew have been working up an exercise for the astronauts to try to determine the best time of night and the best position for a docking maneuver with an Agena rocket.

Docking with the rocket is the primary purpose of Gemini 6, scheduled for Oct. 25.

19 and March 19 in Lisbon. Maximum penalty for each violation is 10 years in prison or $10,000 fine or both.

Ferrese had operated Ferrese Appliances, a discount store in New Castle, which was destroyed by fire about a year go.

Since then he has operated a strip mine coal business at Guilford Lake in southern Columbiana County. He is free under $10,000 bond on the Lisbon case while awaiting grand jury action.

The $17,000 loan at the First National Bank at East Palestine will represent no loss to the bank, Lester E. Hart, president, said this morning. Bank insurance will cover the amount, he explained.

President L. S. Firestone of the Lisbon bank commented today: "In 80 years of banking, we have never had anything like this happen."

He said the bank first will endeavor to get back the money through the courts before investigating the insurance aspect of the case. He said the bank is seeking an attachment against some of Ferrese's property and holdings in New Castle to apply to the loss on the loan.

J. Goldberg "a passion for peace."

One of the four is Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., who, Johnson said, is giving up his seat in Congress to become U.S. representative on the U.N. Economic and Social Council.

The three others:

Charles W. Yost, 58, appointed deputy U.N. ambassador; James Madison Nabrit Jr., 64, Howard University president, representative to the U.N. Security Council; and Eugenie Anderson to the U.N. Trusteeship Council.

He also announced the appointment of Hobart Taylor Jr. as a member of the Board of Directors of the Export-Import Bank.

Clifford Alexander Jr. was named to replace Taylor as the associate special counsel to the President. Alexander, 32, is now deputy assistant to the President.

Thursday, Johnson said he will sign the poverty program bill and will nominate Eugene Patrick Foley, 36, now administrator of the Small Business Administration to head economic development.

In another action, David G. Bress, 56, head of the bar association in Washington, D.C., was named U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

Nabrit, Taylor and Alexander are Negroes.

Johnson told of an aim to improve government efficiency. He said each Cabinet member has been asked to introduce a revolutionary system of budgeting so the promise of finer lives can be brought to every American.

Each department will set up a special staff of experts to define goals for the coming year.

The President said this system will enable us to determine the least costly method of achieving goals.

Discussing registration of Negroes to vote in the South, he said that in 50 Louisiana counties not one Negro has been rejected.

In Mississippi, more than 12,000 Negroes have been registered, he said, adding that this is an increase of 100 per cent in the last six weeks.

He said the clear and heartening lesson is that obedience to the law is a fact of life to many men and women of good will throughout the south.

Johnson then turned to the subject of "home rule" for the people of Washington.

"They deserve and must have home rule," he said in pressing for congressional action on a bill to allow the people of the district of Columbia to elect a mayor and a city council.

useful as I can," Lodge said in French as he began his second tour of duty in Saigon.

Lodge, 63, was ambassador in South Viet Nam for nine months until June 1964, when he was succeeded by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Taylor resigned last month.

The Viet Cong claimed "absolute supremacy" in the Viet Nam war following its 15-minute mortar attack early Tuesday on the Bien Hoa air base 12 miles north of Saigon.

Ignoring the Communist guerrillas' heavy losses last week in the battle on the Van Tuong Peninsula, Hanoi's official newspaper Nhan Dan said the Bien Hoa attack "has brought out more strikingly the stalemate of the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen. There is no 'safe' place for them."

American officials said the long-range attack damaged 45 American and Vietnamese aircraft but all could be repaired within three days. There were no serious casualties, U.S. officials said.

U.S. military headquarters in Saigon announced that 59 Americans were killed in action in South Viet Nam last week. Because of security regulations, there was no breakdown of services or identification of the actions in which they were killed. But it was known that most of them died in the big Marine operation on the Van Tuong Peninsula.

Four Americans were listed as missing in action or captured.

Only small-scale ground action was reported today.

Heavy air strikes went on against suspected Viet Cong concentrations.

Spokesmen said U.S. Navy planes from the carrier Coral Sea flew more than 100 strike sorties Tuesday, expending more than 60 tons of bombs and rockets.

Meals were being consumed on schedule, but still aboard was that first day's supply, which was not eaten because of the astronauts' hectic pace in the troublesome early hours of the mission.

Cooper became the champion of outer space at 9:47 p.m. (EST) Tuesday when the craft whirled over the Atlantic on the 54th orbit.

He surpassed Soviet cosmonaut Valery Bykovsky's mark of 119 hours and 6 minutes by including the logged time on this flight with the 34 hours and 20 minutes of his Faith 7 Mercury mission in 1963.

Cooper and Conrad seem to be progressing well in the various experiments on the flight plan, having completed several photographic and communications exercises.

Trouble developed in a radar locking system aboard the craft when it tried to zero in on a beacon mounted on a tower at Cape Kennedy. Conrad was not able to report a correct range. Flight officials blamed this on the apparent failure of a locking device in the radar unit.

Other minor problems: a fuse blew in one of the back-up computers at mission control and was replaced. A cabin temperature gauge on the spacecraft quit functioning, and the astronauts now use hand-held thermometers to check the cabin temperature.

Flight officials and crew have been working up an exercise for the astronauts to try to determine the best time of night and the best position for a docking maneuver with an Agena rocket.

Docking with the rocket is the primary purpose of Gemini 6, scheduled for Oct. 25.

Swindle

19 and March 19 in Lisbon. Maximum penalty for each violation is 10 years in prison or $10,000 fine or both.

Ferrese had operated Ferrese Appliances, a discount store in New Castle, which was destroyed by fire about a year go.

Since then he has operated a strip mine coal business at Guilford Lake in southern Columbiana County. He is free under $10,000 bond on the Lisbon case while awaiting grand jury action.

The $17,000 loan at the First National Bank at East Palestine will represent no loss to the bank, Lester E. Hart, president, said this morning. Bank insurance will cover the amount, he explained.

President L. S. Firestone of the Lisbon bank commented today: "In 80 years of banking, we have never had anything like this happen."

He said the bank first will endeavor to get back the money through the courts before investigating the insurance aspect of the case. He said the bank is seeking an attachment against some of Ferrese's property and holdings in New Castle to apply to the loss on the loan.

Johnson

J. Goldberg "a passion for peace."

One of the four is Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., who, Johnson said, is giving up his seat in Congress to become U.S. representative on the U.N. Economic and Social Council.

The three others:

Charles W. Yost, 58, appointed deputy U.N. ambassador; James Madison Nabrit Jr., 64, Howard University president, representative to the U.N. Security Council; and Eugenie Anderson to the U.N. Trusteeship Council.

He also announced the appointment of Hobart Taylor Jr. as a member of the Board of Directors of the Export-Import Bank.

Clifford Alexander Jr. was named to replace Taylor as the associate special counsel to the President. Alexander, 32, is now deputy assistant to the President.

Thursday, Johnson said he will sign the poverty program bill and will nominate Eugene Patrick Foley, 36, now administrator of the Small Business Administration to head economic development.

In another action, David G. Bress, 56, head of the bar association in Washington, D.C., was named U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia.

Nabrit, Taylor and Alexander are Negroes.

Johnson told of an aim to improve government efficiency. He said each Cabinet member has been asked to introduce a revolutionary system of budgeting so the promise of finer lives can be brought to every American.

Each department will set up a special staff of experts to define goals for the coming year.

The President said this system will enable us to determine the least costly method of achieving goals.

Discussing registration of Negroes to vote in the South, he said that in 50 Louisiana counties not one Negro has been rejected.

In Mississippi, more than 12,000 Negroes have been registered, he said, adding that this is an increase of 100 per cent in the last six weeks.

He said the clear and heartening lesson is that obedience to the law is a fact of life to many men and women of good will throughout the south.

Johnson then turned to the subject of "home rule" for the people of Washington.

"They deserve and must have home rule," he said in pressing for congressional action on a bill to allow the people of the district of Columbia to elect a mayor and a city council.

Viet Nam

useful as I can," Lodge said in French as he began his second tour of duty in Saigon.

Lodge, 63, was ambassador in South Viet Nam for nine months until June 1964, when he was succeeded by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Taylor resigned last month.

The Viet Cong claimed "absolute supremacy" in the Viet Nam war following its 15-minute mortar attack early Tuesday on the Bien Hoa air base 12 miles north of Saigon.

Ignoring the Communist guerrillas' heavy losses last week in the battle on the Van Tuong Peninsula, Hanoi's official newspaper Nhan Dan said the Bien Hoa attack "has brought out more strikingly the stalemate of the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen. There is no 'safe' place for them."

American officials said the long-range attack damaged 45 American and Vietnamese aircraft but all could be repaired within three days. There were no serious casualties, U.S. officials said.

U.S. military headquarters in Saigon announced that 59 Americans were killed in action in South Viet Nam last week. Because of security regulations, there was no breakdown of services or identification of the actions in which they were killed. But it was known that most of them died in the big Marine operation on the Van Tuong Peninsula.

Four Americans were listed as missing in action or captured.

Only small-scale ground action was reported today.

Heavy air strikes went on against suspected Viet Cong concentrations.

Jewel K. Bowman Marries In Ceremonies At Lisbon

Climaxing a high school romance, a wedding ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church of Lisbon Friday united in marriage Miss Jewel Kathryn Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowman of Lisbon R. D. 3, and Charles Edward Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer of East Liverpool R. D. 1.

Officiating at the 8:30 o'clock double-ring exercises was the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard before an altar enhanced by palms, twin vases of white gladiolis and pompons in the candlelight of twin seven-branch candelabra.

NUPTIAL MUSIC was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Everett, organist, who also was accompanist for John Snyder, soloist.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta, designed with a fitted bodice of hand - clipped Chantilly lace and scooped neckline, the long tapered sleeves ending in bridal points. The floor-length sheath skirt, trimmed with Chantilly lace, had a full overskirt which ended in a chapel train. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses and pompons, centered by a white orchid. To carry out the wedding tradition, the bride wore a gold broach which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Clyde Freeman, for something old and the sixpence in her shoe was given to her by a friend in Australia.

Mrs. Dean Bowman, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her flaming pink silk gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The high rise waist, with a large bow at the back, accented the full - length semi-bell-shaped skirt, which gathered into a bustle. A matching bow held her theater-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

MISS SUZANNE McCrory and Mrs. Nicholas Radoswich, both of Pittsburgh, classmates of the bride, and Miss Sandy Stauffer of Portland, Ore., niece of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

MRS. CHARLES STAUFFER
Will Reside In Youngstown.

Their gowns and headpieces were identical to the matron of honor and each carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Miss Gretchen Bowman, a niece of the bride, and Miss Susie Elaine Kelch, a cousin of the bride, were flower girls. They dressed like the other attendants, with crowns of pink rose buds and baskets of yellow and pink roses and pompons.

Ronald Stauffer of East Liverpool was his brother's best man. Ushers were Dean Bowman of Lisbon, a brother of the bride; Wesley Hays of Girard and Charles D. Stauffer of Portland, Ore., a nephew of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother chose a mint green lace sheath, three-piece ensemble, with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gold brocade, two-piece dress with beige accessories. Each was complemented with corsages of yellow rose buds.

FOLLOWING the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social rooms for 250 guests from Wyoming, Oregon, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Washington, D. C., Columbus, East Liverpool, Salem, Columbiana, East Palestine, Carrollton, Beloit, Rogers and Lisbon. They were registered by Miss Moira Lee Boyd of Lisbon.

Centering the bride's table, overlaid in white lace and set in crystal, was a four - tiered wedding cake trimmed with tiny pink roses, topped by a miniature bride and groom and encircled by pink flowers to carry out the pink and white bridal theme. An heirloom linen cloth covered the serving table.

Presiding at the reception were Mrs. Roger Kelch, Mrs. Thomas Faulk, cousins of the bride; Mrs. David Claypoole, all of Lisbon; Mrs. Donald Cope of East Palestine, and Miss Jayne Cottrill of Pittsburgh.

The bride, a graduate of Beaver Local High School in 1962, was graduated Aug. 13 from Presbyterian University Hospital School of Nursing and has accepted a position as an operating room staff nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Youngstown.

The bridegroom, a 1961 graduate of Beaver Local High School, is a fifth-year engineering student at Youngstown University and presently is employed by the Ohio State Department of Highways.

For going away, the bride wore a two-piece beige knit suit, with mint accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. After Sept. 7, upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and Virginia, the newlyweds will reside at Hillcrest Mobile Homes Court or Trumbull Rd., Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer, the bridegroom's parents, were hosts to the rehearsal dinner party at the Wick Hotel Thursday evening.

Jewel K. Bowman Marries In Ceremonies At Lisbon

Climaxing a high school romance, a wedding ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church of Lisbon Friday united in marriage Miss Jewel Kathryn Bowman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bowman of Lisbon R. D. 3, and Charles Edward Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Stauffer of East Liverpool R. D. 1.

Officiating at the 8:30 o'clock double-ring exercises was the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard before an altar enhanced by palms, twin vases of white gladiolis and pompons in the candlelight of twin seven-branch candelabra.

NUPTIAL MUSIC was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Everett, organist, who also was accompanist for John Snyder, soloist.

Given in marriage by her parents, and escorted by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white silk organza over bridal taffeta, designed with a fitted bodice of hand - clipped Chantilly lace and scooped neckline, the long tapered sleeves ending in bridal points. The floor-length sheath skirt, trimmed with Chantilly lace, had a full overskirt which ended in a chapel train. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by a crown of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses and pompons, centered by a white orchid. To carry out the wedding tradition, the bride wore a gold broach which belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Clyde Freeman, for something old and the sixpence in her shoe was given to her by a friend in Australia.

Mrs. Dean Bowman, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her flaming pink silk gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The high rise waist, with a large bow at the back, accented the full - length semi-bell-shaped skirt, which gathered into a bustle. A matching bow held her theater-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses.

MISS SUZANNE McCrory and Mrs. Nicholas Radoswich, both of Pittsburgh, classmates of the bride, and Miss Sandy Stauffer of Portland, Ore., niece of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

MRS. CHARLES STAUFFER
Will Reside In Youngstown.

Their gowns and headpieces were identical to the matron of honor and each carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Miss Gretchen Bowman, a niece of the bride, and Miss Susie Elaine Kelch, a cousin of the bride, were flower girls. They dressed like the other attendants, with crowns of pink rose buds and baskets of yellow and pink roses and pompons.

Ronald Stauffer of East Liverpool was his brother's best man. Ushers were Dean Bowman of Lisbon, a brother of the bride; Wesley Hays of Girard and Charles D. Stauffer of Portland, Ore., a nephew of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother chose a mint green lace sheath, three-piece ensemble, with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gold brocade, two-piece dress with beige accessories. Each was complemented with corsages of yellow rose buds.

FOLLOWING the ceremony, a reception was held in the church social rooms for 250 guests from Wyoming, Oregon, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Washington, D. C., Columbus, East Liverpool, Salem, Columbiana, East Palestine, Carrollton, Beloit, Rogers and Lisbon. They were registered by Miss Moira Lee Boyd of Lisbon.

Centering the bride's table, overlaid in white lace and set in crystal, was a four - tiered wedding cake trimmed with tiny pink roses, topped by a miniature bride and groom and encircled by pink flowers to carry out the pink and white bridal theme. An heirloom linen cloth covered the serving table.

Presiding at the reception were Mrs. Roger Kelch, Mrs. Thomas Faulk, cousins of the bride; Mrs. David Claypoole, all of Lisbon; Mrs. Donald Cope of East Palestine, and Miss Jayne Cottrill of Pittsburgh.

The bride, a graduate of Beaver Local High School in 1962, was graduated Aug. 13 from Presbyterian University Hospital School of Nursing and has accepted a position as an operating room staff nurse at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Youngstown.

The bridegroom, a 1961 graduate of Beaver Local High School, is a fifth-year engineering student at Youngstown University and presently is employed by the Ohio State Department of Highways.

For going away, the bride wore a two-piece beige knit suit, with mint accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. After Sept. 7, upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and Virginia, the newlyweds will reside at Hillcrest Mobile Homes Court or Trumbull Rd., Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Stauffer, the bridegroom's parents, were hosts to the rehearsal dinner party at the Wick Hotel Thursday evening.

Indian Units Attack Over Cease-Fire Line

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian forces in Kashmir have attacked across the cease-fire line into Pakistani-held territory at two points, Indian Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan announced today.

Chavan told Parliament the army attacked "in order to prevent further infiltration and to keep a watch on the retreat routes of infiltrators."

Indian forces in the divided Himalayan state for weeks have been battling guerrillas who the Indian government charges infiltrated from Pakistan.

Chavan said Indian forces have "established new positions"—apparently meaning the Indian army has seized and will attempt to hold territory on the Pakistani side.

Indian Units Attack Over Cease-Fire Line

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian forces in Kashmir have attacked across the cease-fire line into Pakistani-held territory at two points, Indian Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan announced today.

Chavan told Parliament the army attacked "in order to prevent further infiltration and to keep a watch on the retreat routes of infiltrators."

Indian forces in the divided Himalayan state for weeks have been battling guerrillas who the Indian government charges infiltrated from Pakistan.

Chavan said Indian forces have "established new positions"—apparently meaning the Indian army has seized and will attempt to hold territory on the Pakistani side.

Weirton Driver Reports Role In Hit-Skip Mishap

A 23-year-old Weirton woman reported to the Hancock County sheriff's office early this morning that she had been involved in a hit-skip auto accident shortly after midnight near the Tally-Ho Club on Route 2, south of New Cumberland.

Nedra Jenkins of 157 S. 12th St., Weirton, admitted to the deputies that she had been the driver of a 1959 car which had struck a parked 1961 vehicle belonging to Charles F. Bell, 23, of Cove Station, near Weirton.

The sheriff's office had received an earlier report regarding the accident and ownership of the fleeing auto was being traced through the license number, which had been noted by a witness to the accident.

She was charged with causing a hit-and-run accident and will appear before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Crumbling Walls

One original facade of the United States Capitol is slowly but surely crumbling.

"A sonic boom or any kind of earth tremor could collapse the walls like dominoes and send the dome crashing down," warns United States Capitol Architect J. George Stewart.

As an emergency measure, Congress recently asked Stewart to shore up with timbers the west front at all critical points prior to developing plans for major reconstruction that will leave the Capitol in sound condition for future generations.

The structural problems that now threaten the Capitol were built in from the beginning, the National Geographic Society says.

When the Capitol's original designer, Dr. William Thornton, recommended marble walls, President Washington said marble was too costly. A great economizer and shrewd businessman, Washington substituted sandstone, which he sold to the government from his own quarry at Aquia Creek near Mount Vernon. The soft sandstone was cut into blocks and hauled up the Potomac by barge.

Since lime was not readily available, builders of the Capitol collected oyster and mussel shells from nearby creeks and rivers, and baked them to obtain lime mortar. Unfortunately, the shells were not cooked long enough; thus they never had sufficient bonding powers. Some of the foundation stones have no mortar at all.

From the 8th to the 11th centuries Spain was dominated by the Moors.

Bizarre And Bewildering War

Yanks In Viet Watch Movie As Bombers Attack Communist Camp

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

DAK PEK, South Viet Nam (AP) — A bizarre, bewildering war—

At this remote Special Forces camp near the Laotian border we had just settled down to watch a movie called "Two Rode West" screened on a bedsheet suspended from the back of a 2½-ton truck.

The cavalry was getting the better of the Comanches and the Montagnard soldiers sitting on their haunches at our feet had begun to take umbrage at the color outrages unfolding on the screen. The Montagnards, an aboriginal type people, are always on the side of the Indians when American Westerns are shown.

Suddenly off to our left, just beyond the screen, the velvet black sky came alive with flares that turned the jungle night into gaudy day.

In brilliant flashes of light and pounding peals of explosives, the attack on Dak Sut, a Special Forces camp 10 miles to the east, unfolded before our eyes and echoed in our ears. The projector stopped and the semicircle of viewers turned their attention to the pyrotechnics flashing over the next mountain.

A big jungle moon rode over the dark green hills just as the first strike of bombers droned overhead and began dropping their payloads in the Viet Cong-infested caves and ridges around the camp under attack.

Slow-dropping flares, constant explosions, glows like flashes of summer lightning amid the dull rumble of thunder, the endless drone of the bombers, made our own camp guard tense and itchy fingered.

Twice the alert sounded, sending us down to the sandbagged bunkers as the guard units on the hills surrounding our camp opened up with automatic weapons and small arms. Overhead our own flares were set off, illuminating the camp.

It may have been a dog chasing a deer through the thick bushes. Whatever it was, each round of fire set the next hill to firing.

When this died down, it was decided to go ahead with the movie. The new sound effects of the distant attack coupled with the constant glow of flares and flash of bombs gave the movie a dimension Hollywood never dreamed of.

All night long the bombers droned overhead. The moon hid its face, rain pelted down in slanted sheets and still the bombers came. The hills growled with real thunder as well as the thunder of the battle. Strike after strike of bombers moved above the clouds, led by the little single-engined spotter planes.

At 4 a.m. word came that the Americans and Vietnamese were pulling out of Dak Sut and moving into the jungles along prearranged escape routes.

In leaving, the defenders set off their ammunition, burned their gasoline supplies, touched off their grenades. The Viet Cong overruning the camp must have found only a burning mountain, or so it appeared from our vantage point.

State Rejected In Court Ruling On Vice Figure

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood ruled that Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe had failed to prove that the court should set aside an earlier order releasing Naples from a 1-10 year sentence for receiving stolen property.

Naples, 31, sought release on a writ of habeas corpus on grounds his constitutional rights had been violated. An assistant attorney general who agreed with that contention, John Cianflona, subsequently was fired and Saxbe sought to have the release order set aside on grounds Cianflona violated orders.

But Underwood ruled there was no evidence that Cianflona "violated instructions given him in this case."

David Kessler, an assistant to Saxbe, said Underwood's ruling would be appealed to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

2 'Chute Safely As Experimental Airplane Crashes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The Curtiss-Wright X-19 triservice aircraft, an experimental plane designed to rise vertically, hover and then fly forward at speeds up to 460 miles an hour, crashed today during its initial test flight at the National Aviation Experimental Facilities Center in nearby Pomona.

Chief test pilot James V. Ryan and project test pilot Bernard J. Hughes parachuted safely from the plane, which crashed in flames in a swamp on the federal reservation about 7:30 a.m.

Officials would only say the plane had been in flight approximately 20 minutes and was on its way back to the land strip when the accident occurred.

Sam Myers, former Associated Press photographer who was on the scene, said: "The plane circled and was ready to land but then it appeared to lose its right motor and then its left one. It was on fire when it crashed in the swamp about six miles from where it was to land."

Safety Checks Delay Navy's Sealab Tests

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Safety checks of gear for Sealab 2 are taking far more time than planned, Navy officers say, and it may be Thursday or Friday before divers will be allowed to enter the 12 x 58 - foot steel chamber which will be their underwater base for 45 days.

"There are no big problems — just a whole lot of minor ones that have to be solved before we can let the men begin residence at a depth of 210 feet, said Capt. Ray Spencer of the Engineering Applications Division of the Office of Naval Research.

Lowering of Sealab 2 to the bottom 1,000 yards off this Southern California resort, planned since Aug. 15, was delayed Tuesday afternoon by a series of problems that cropped up as piece after piece of auxiliary equipment was checked out.

First there were leaks in a diving bell which will take 10-man teams to and from Sealab for 15 day stays. These were repaired. Then came trouble with air-hose seals and other equipment.

Much of the day was spent practicing lifting the diving bell from the water and swinging it by crane to a decompression chamber on the mother ship, a tricky procedure on a rolling sea and one that must be performed with split-second precision.

The first team stowed their gear aboard the Sealab 2. The gear includes a ukelele belonging to the team leader, astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, a Navy commander who is a diving expert.

Carpenter plans to use the ukelele to while away some of the lonely hours below. There was some doubt, however, how long he would persist.

In the mostly helium atmosphere with which Sealab 2 will be pressurized, face-to-face conversation sounds like cartoon mice and ducks in an argument — so what will a ukelele do to the ears of Carpenter's teammates?

A fathom, six feet, is used chiefly as a measure of depth of water.

Court Begins Traffic Case

A lengthy hearing was under way this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for Milton Spann, 30, of 1757 Commerce St., Wellsville, facing three charges as an aftermath of a collision Aug. 4 in which he allegedly drove south in the northbound lanes of the Freeway and hit another car head-on.

Spann is charged with driving while intoxicated; leaving the scene of an accident, and driving the wrong way on a divided highway. His car allegedly hit the auto of Quentin Zell of Bethlehem, Pa.

Spann, represented by Atty. Ben H. Berman, pleaded not guilty to all three counts the day following the crash. Several continuances were granted to allow the defendant to obtain a physical examination, as his counsel said he had been subject to "blackouts." Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark is appearing for the prosecution.

As the case opened this morning, defense counsel submitted a letter from a physician who examined Spann. However, he said the physician wished to admit Spann to a Youngstown hospital for further tests, but he could not be taken into the hospital until after Sept. 1.

"If there is something physically wrong with this defendant, he has a right to an examination," Judge Chertoff said. "But there are witnesses from out of the city and I don't feel it is fair to them to come here from some distance and then be met with a delay."

Clark said he could not see where the physician's letter would have any bearing on the outcome of the case. The judge agreed that the letter "at best is a list of possible mitigating circumstances."

The judge indicated at first he would hear only the testimony of the out-of-state witnesses, then recess the case pending further medical reports. After consulting with counsel, he said the entire case would be heard today, if possible.

The United Republic of Tanganyika and Zanzibar officially came into being April 26, 1964.

Yanks In Viet Watch Movie As Bombers Attack Communist Camp

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

DAK PEK, South Viet Nam (AP) — A bizarre, bewildering war—

At this remote Special Forces camp near the Laotian border we had just settled down to watch a movie called "Two Rode West" screened on a bedsheet suspended from the back of a 2½-ton truck.

The cavalry was getting the better of the Comanches and the Montagnard soldiers sitting on their haunches at our feet had begun to take umbrage at the color outrages unfolding on the screen. The Montagnards, an aboriginal type people, are always on the side of the Indians when American Westerns are shown.

Suddenly off to our left, just beyond the screen, the velvet black sky came alive with flares that turned the jungle night into gaudy day.

In brilliant flashes of light and pounding peals of explosives, the attack on Dak Sut, a Special Forces camp 10 miles to the east, unfolded before our eyes and echoed in our ears. The projector stopped and the semicircle of viewers turned their attention to the pyrotechnics flashing over the next mountain.

A big jungle moon rode over the dark green hills just as the first strike of bombers droned overhead and began dropping their payloads in the Viet Cong-infested caves and ridges around the camp under attack.

Slow-dropping flares, constant explosions, glows like flashes of summer lightning amid the dull rumble of thunder, the endless drone of the bombers, made our own camp guard tense and itchy fingered.

Twice the alert sounded, sending us down to the sandbagged bunkers as the guard units on the hills surrounding our camp opened up with automatic weapons and small arms. Overhead our own flares were set off, illuminating the camp.

It may have been a dog chasing a deer through the thick bushes. Whatever it was, each round of fire set the next hill to firing.

When this died down, it was decided to go ahead with the movie. The new sound effects of the distant attack coupled with the constant glow of flares and flash of bombs gave the movie a dimension Hollywood never dreamed of.

All night long the bombers droned overhead. The moon hid its face, rain pelted down in slanted sheets and still the bombers came. The hills growled with real thunder as well as the thunder of the battle. Strike after strike of bombers moved above the clouds, led by the little single-engined spotter planes.

At 4 a.m. word came that the Americans and Vietnamese were pulling out of Dak Sut and moving into the jungles along prearranged escape routes.

In leaving, the defenders set off their ammunition, burned their gasoline supplies, touched off their grenades. The Viet Cong overruning the camp must have found only a burning mountain, or so it appeared from our vantage point.

State Rejected In Court Ruling On Vice Figure

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood ruled that Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe had failed to prove that the court should set aside an earlier order releasing Naples from a 1-10 year sentence for receiving stolen property.

Naples, 31, sought release on a writ of habeas corpus on grounds his constitutional rights had been violated. An assistant attorney general who agreed with that contention, John Cianflona, subsequently was fired and Saxbe sought to have the release order set aside on grounds Cianflona violated orders.

But Underwood ruled there was no evidence that Cianflona "violated instructions given him in this case."

2 'Chute Safely As Experimental Airplane Crashes

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The Curtiss-Wright X-19 triservice aircraft, an experimental plane designed to rise vertically, hover and then fly forward at speeds up to 460 miles an hour, crashed today during its initial test flight at the National Aviation Experimental Facilities Center in nearby Pomona.

Chief test pilot James V. Ryan and project test pilot Bernard J. Hughes parachuted safely from the plane, which crashed in flames in a swamp on the federal reservation about 7:30 a.m.

Officials would only say the plane had been in flight approximately 20 minutes and was on its way back to the land strip when the accident occurred.

Sam Myers, former Associated Press photographer who was on the scene, said: "The plane circled and was ready to land but then it appeared to lose its right motor and then its left one. It was on fire when it crashed in the swamp about six miles from where it was to land."

Safety Checks Delay Navy's Sealab Tests

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — Safety checks of gear for Sealab 2 are taking far more time than planned, Navy officers say, and it may be Thursday or Friday before divers will be allowed to enter the 12 x 58 - foot steel chamber which will be their underwater base for 45 days.

"There are no big problems — just a whole lot of minor ones that have to be solved before we can let the men begin residence at a depth of 210 feet, said Capt. Ray Spencer of the Engineering Applications Division of the Office of Naval Research.

Lowering of Sealab 2 to the bottom 1,000 yards off this Southern California resort, planned since Aug. 15, was delayed Tuesday afternoon by a series of problems that cropped up as piece after piece of auxiliary equipment was checked out.

First there were leaks in a diving bell which will take 10-man teams to and from Sealab for 15 day stays. These were repaired. Then came trouble with air-hose seals and other equipment.

Much of the day was spent practicing lifting the diving bell from the water and swinging it by crane to a decompression chamber on the mother ship, a tricky procedure on a rolling sea and one that must be performed with split-second precision.

The first team stowed their gear aboard the Sealab 2. The gear includes a ukelele belonging to the team leader, astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, a Navy commander who is a diving expert.

Carpenter plans to use the ukelele to while away some of the lonely hours below. There was some doubt, however, how long he would persist.

In the mostly helium atmosphere with which Sealab 2 will be pressurized, face-to-face conversation sounds like cartoon mice and ducks in an argument — so what will a ukelele do to the ears of Carpenter's teammates?

Court Begins Traffic Case

A lengthy hearing was under way this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff for Milton Spann, 30, of 1757 Commerce St., Wellsville, facing three charges as an aftermath of a collision Aug. 4 in which he allegedly drove south in the northbound lanes of the Freeway and hit another car head-on.

Spann is charged with driving while intoxicated; leaving the scene of an accident, and driving the wrong way on a divided highway. His car allegedly hit the auto of Quentin Zell of Bethlehem, Pa.

Spann, represented by Atty. Ben H. Berman, pleaded not guilty to all three counts the day following the crash. Several continuances were granted to allow the defendant to obtain a physical examination, as his counsel said he had been subject to "blackouts." Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark is appearing for the prosecution.

As the case opened this morning, defense counsel submitted a letter from a physician who examined Spann. However, he said the physician wished to admit Spann to a Youngstown hospital for further tests, but he could not be taken into the hospital until after Sept. 1.

"If there is something physically wrong with this defendant, he has a right to an examination," Judge Chertoff said. "But there are witnesses from out of the city and I don't feel it is fair to them to come here from some distance and then be met with a delay."

Clark said he could not see where the physician's letter would have any bearing on the outcome of the case. The judge agreed that the letter "at best is a list of possible mitigating circumstances."

The judge indicated at first he would hear only the testimony of the out-of-state witnesses, then recess the case pending further medical reports. After consulting with counsel, he said the entire case would be heard today, if possible.

Southeastern Region Hardest Hit

Some Ohio Areas Need Teachers

By SAM DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio school administrators raced the school-opening clock today, trying to insure there will be a teacher in every classroom this fall.

They are grappling with a teacher shortage which one administrator blames on "the perennial problem of money."

THE SHORTAGE is more acute in Southeastern Ohio where some pay scales are lower than the big cities.

"Each year we hear the same cry for teachers and we haven't heard any less of it this year," says Maxson Greene, director of teacher education and certification for the Ohio Department of Education.

Greene says much of the shortage is caused by teachers, particularly those with degrees in science and mathematics, who quit teaching for higher paying jobs with business and industry.

Akron schools had about two dozen vacancies to fill in its 2,300 member staff. Supt. Martin Essex attributed this to money. "We have what has been, with rare exception, the highest beginning salary schedule," in the area, he said.

Akron started its teachers at $5,300 a year and this figure was increased by $200 with Gov. James A. Rhodes' recent signing of a bill providing a $200 raise for all Ohio teachers.

"We're in excellent shape," reported Columbus Supt. Harold Eibling. He said that other than a good pay schedule, the colleges and universities around the city add to teacher attraction. Columbus has 4,000 teachers.

CINCINNATI, also the home of two major universities, is "in the best position we have been for years, with practically all our vacancies filled," reported Assistant Supt. George Redfern.

Cincinnati has about 3,200 teachers and lacked "about 10 or so" to meet its needs.

The Ohio Education Department reported the average salary for a classroom teacher in Cincinnati is $6,759 a year, and $6,339 in Columbus.

But in Cleveland where the average pay is about the same, $6,758, there is a teacher shortage which apparently isn't linked to money.

Cleveland administrators said they were short 82 teachers for grades 7 through 12 and 90 on the elementary level. Latest figures list 5,231 teachers in the system. So basically, the shortage is of small percentage.

Greene says Ohio will need at least 92,000 teachers this year and "We hope that will be enough."

HE SAID Southeastern Ohio "is having more difficulty because of the changing situation in neighboring states." Greene says Kentucky and West Virginia are improving teacher salaries and "they are holding more people . . . who came over here before."

Education department figures for the 1964-65 school year show teacher salaries in this area range from $4,000 to about $5,500 a year. Examples of average salaries are Portsmouth $5,589, Gallipolis $5,170, Athens $5,292 and Jackson $5,274. But in Ohio's southernmost area, Lawrence County, teachers in local school districts make from $4,029 to $4,437 yearly.

Ohio Education Association records list average teacher salaries in neighboring states as Indiana $6,530, Kentucky $4,750, West Virginia $4,590 and Pennsylvania $6,150.

Greene thinks the teacher shortage problem rests with those outside the schools and explained: "It's simply a matter of trying to educate the public, the colleges and the kids in college of the need for teachers, emphasizing it as a good occupation."

Kidnaped And Shot

Slayer Of Youngster, 8, Hunted In Cleveland Area

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Cremer Young Jr., 8, never went far from home without first telling his mother. He was a reliable boy and had lots of friends.

Police are searching today for his killer. Detectives said John apparently was kidnapped, then shot.

The boy's body was found Tuesday in a wooded area of Gates Mills, about 10 miles from his home in Shaker Heights. He had been killed by a single shot in the back of the head with a .32-caliber pistol, said Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber.

Detectives said it appeared to be a kidnaping since it was unlikely the boy would walk that far, even if he knew the way. His bicycle was at home.

Gerber said the boy had been dead only about three hours when he was found shortly after noon. He had left his home 9 a.m. to visit a neighbor, who lived two houses away.

The boy was fully clothed when found and had not been injured or molested before he was shot, Gerber said.

John, described as a quiet boy by his neighbors, went to the home of Robert Colby after breakfast. Earlier, Mrs. Colby had called the Youngs to say she thought John had left his jacket there and wanted him to pick it up.

The boy arrived at her home, Mrs. Colby said, told her the jacket was not his and left. Three hours later John's body was found in the woods by David Griesinger, 21, of Gates Mills, who was taking the family dogs for a walk.

The boy's father, a salesman for the Borden Chemical Co., made positive identification after police traced the boy through names on the clothing and a shirt with "Hawken Day Camp" written on it. John had attended camp there.

"We are acting under the assumption that the murder may have been committed in Shaker Heights," Carl E. Longstreet, Shaker Heights police chief said. "We don't believe that it was committed where the body was found."

Southeastern Region Hardest Hit

Some Ohio Areas Need Teachers

By SAM DOBBINS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio school administrators raced the school-opening clock today, trying to insure there will be a teacher in every classroom this fall.

They are grappling with a teacher shortage which one administrator blames on "the perennial problem of money."

THE SHORTAGE is more acute in Southeastern Ohio where some pay scales are lower than the big cities.

"Each year we hear the same cry for teachers and we haven't heard any less of it this year," says Maxson Greene, director of teacher education and certification for the Ohio Department of Education.

Greene says much of the shortage is caused by teachers, particularly those with degrees in science and mathematics, who quit teaching for higher paying jobs with business and industry.

Akron schools had about two dozen vacancies to fill in its 2,300 member staff. Supt. Martin Essex attributed this to money. "We have what has been, with rare exception, the highest beginning salary schedule," in the area, he said.

Akron started its teachers at $5,300 a year and this figure was increased by $200 with Gov. James A. Rhodes' recent signing of a bill providing a $200 raise for all Ohio teachers.

"We're in excellent shape," reported Columbus Supt. Harold Eibling. He said that other than a good pay schedule, the colleges and universities around the city add to teacher attraction. Columbus has 4,000 teachers.

CINCINNATI, also the home of two major universities, is "in the best position we have been for years, with practically all our vacancies filled," reported Assistant Supt. George Redfern.

Cincinnati has about 3,200 teachers and lacked "about 10 or so" to meet its needs.

The Ohio Education Department reported the average salary for a classroom teacher in Cincinnati is $6,759 a year, and $6,339 in Columbus.

But in Cleveland where the average pay is about the same, $6,758, there is a teacher shortage which apparently isn't linked to money.

Cleveland administrators said they were short 82 teachers for grades 7 through 12 and 90 on the elementary level. Latest figures list 5,231 teachers in the system. So basically, the shortage is of small percentage.

Greene says Ohio will need at least 92,000 teachers this year and "We hope that will be enough."

HE SAID Southeastern Ohio "is having more difficulty because of the changing situation in neighboring states." Greene says Kentucky and West Virginia are improving teacher salaries and "they are holding more people . . . who came over here before."

Education department figures for the 1964-65 school year show teacher salaries in this area range from $4,000 to about $5,500 a year. Examples of average salaries are Portsmouth $5,589, Gallipolis $5,170, Athens $5,292 and Jackson $5,274. But in Ohio's southernmost area, Lawrence County, teachers in local school districts make from $4,029 to $4,437 yearly.

Ohio Education Association records list average teacher salaries in neighboring states as Indiana $6,530, Kentucky $4,750, West Virginia $4,590 and Pennsylvania $6,150.

Greene thinks the teacher shortage problem rests with those outside the schools and explained: "It's simply a matter of trying to educate the public, the colleges and the kids in college of the need for teachers, emphasizing it as a good occupation."

Kidnaped And Shot

Slayer Of Youngster, 8, Hunted In Cleveland Area

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Cremer Young Jr., 8, never went far from home without first telling his mother. He was a reliable boy and had lots of friends.

Police are searching today for his killer. Detectives said John apparently was kidnapped, then shot.

The boy's body was found Tuesday in a wooded area of Gates Mills, about 10 miles from his home in Shaker Heights. He had been killed by a single shot in the back of the head with a .32-caliber pistol, said Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber.

Detectives said it appeared to be a kidnaping since it was unlikely the boy would walk that far, even if he knew the way. His bicycle was at home.

Gerber said the boy had been dead only about three hours when he was found shortly after noon. He had left his home 9 a.m. to visit a neighbor, who lived two houses away.

The boy was fully clothed when found and had not been injured or molested before he was shot, Gerber said.

John, described as a quiet boy by his neighbors, went to the home of Robert Colby after breakfast. Earlier, Mrs. Colby had called the Youngs to say she thought John had left his jacket there and wanted him to pick it up.

The boy arrived at her home, Mrs. Colby said, told her the jacket was not his and left. Three hours later John's body was found in the woods by David Griesinger, 21, of Gates Mills, who was taking the family dogs for a walk.

The boy's father, a salesman for the Borden Chemical Co., made positive identification after police traced the boy through names on the clothing and a shirt with "Hawken Day Camp" written on it. John had attended camp there.

"We are acting under the assumption that the murder may have been committed in Shaker Heights," Carl E. Longstreet, Shaker Heights police chief said. "We don't believe that it was committed where the body was found."

Sen. Kennedy Denies Any Discord Over Johnson As 1960 VP Choice

Varying versions have appeared recently on how Lyndon B. Johnson was selected as John F. Kennedy's running mate in 1960 and the role Robert F. Kennedy played at that time. In this exclusive interview, the New York senator answers questions about Johnson's selection and gives his views on U.S. policies in Viet Nam and the future of the civil rights movement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says there was never any disagreement between him and President John F. Kennedy over the desirability of having Lyndon B. Johnson on the 1960 Democratic ticket.

Kennedy said in an Associated Press interview that at the direction of his brother he informed Johnson at the Los Angeles Democratic National Convention that opposition to the latter's nomination had arisen in liberal and labor ranks.

In response to a question, however, the New York Democrat disputed the contention of a memorandum of Philip Graham, late publisher of the Washington Post and chairman of Newsweek magazine. The Graham memorandum said Robert Kennedy told Johnson he should withdraw but John Kennedy said that was a mistake because "Bobby's been out of touch."

"Didn't the Philip Graham memo imply that you went to Johnson on your own?" he was asked.

"Anyone who knows the relationship between President Kennedy and myself would know that doesn't make a great deal of sense," he replied. "The idea that I would go behind my brother's back doesn't make sense."

On other subjects, Kennedy:

—Said President Kennedy had great confidence in Secretary of State Dean Rusk. But the senator declined to comment on published reports that the president intended to replace Rusk after the 1964 elections.

—Said the war in Viet Nam is not going to be won by military action but by political action which will gain the support of the people there.

—Called the civil rights problem in the North more complex than in the South. And said there may be more violence before it is solved.

Here are some questions and answers:

Q. You have said that President Kennedy wanted President Johnson as his running mate in 1960 because he was "the best man to carry on." Did you agree at the time with that assessment?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. There have been a number of published reports about your activities in connection with the vice - presidential nomination. Would you like to clear those up with a simple statement of the part you played?

A. I'd just say that first there was no disagreement between President Kennedy and myself as to the advisability of having Lyndon Johnson as the vice president. I'm not going to go into all the details as to what occurred during that day, but I will say there was no disagreement between President Kennedy and myself as to Vice President Johnson.

Q. Was there some disagreement on the part of liberals and labor leaders which caused you to go to Senator Johnson and inform him of this situation?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you inform Johnson there was this opposition to him?

A. I did at President Kennedy's request, as he described the next day in Los Angeles.

Q. Didn't the Graham memo imply that you went to Johnson on your own?

A. Anybody who knows the relationship between President Kennedy and myself would know that doesn't make a great deal of sense. The idea that I would go behind my brother's back doesn't make sense.

Q. In any event, there was no difference of opinion between you and the president on this matter?

A. No. And I might say there's nothing that's been written that would indicate that, other than the conclusion that various people have reached because of one reason or another — from a particular sentence or phrase of a sentence without knowing what the rest of the conversation was, or out of placing an event into the context of their own preconceived ideas in a manner which might lead to erroneous conclusions.

Q. What is your reaction to the published report that President Kennedy intended to replace Secretary of State Rusk after the 1964 elections?

A. I have said that President Kennedy had great confidence in Secretary Rusk and his dedication to his job and the interests of the United States, but that I wasn't going to comment on everybody who is writing a book and what they have to say about everybody else.

Q. Are we following the right course in Viet Nam?

A. I support the effort that's being made in Viet Nam by President Johnson. I believe this to be most important. If the effort in Viet Nam becomes merely a military effort, we shall win some of the battles, but we will lose the over-all struggle. The people of Viet Nam need to feel that their future should rest with Saigon and not Hanoi.

We need to give them security — that is going to require police and military action —but at the same time, social, political, economic, educational, agriculture progress has to be made for the peasants of that tragic land. And we need to do much in this field.

Q. Is the civil rights movement entering a phase in which more violence can be expected?

A. I don't think it's necessarily entering a new phase. It should have been anticipated that we were going to have many difficulties. I pointed this out when I was attorney general back in 1961 and 1962 when everybody's attention was focused on the South.

In many ways the North has more difficult and complex problems than the South. Solutions are more difficult. Furthermore, the makeup of the movement is far different than it is in the South. It lacks the religious overtones and it lacks the leadership that the Southern civil rights movement has. The fact that the problems are more difficult and complex in the North suggests more violence may occur in the North.

He shattered 200 straight targets but bowed in a shootoff.

Tuesday, the 35-year-old Souba again cracked 200 straight birds at 16 yards in the Class AA test for America top shooters.

Q. In any event, there was no difference of opinion between you and the president on this matter?

A. No. And I might say there's nothing that's been written that would indicate that, other than the conclusion that various people have reached because of one reason or another — from a particular sentence or phrase of a sentence without knowing what the rest of the conversation was, or out of placing an event into the context of their own preconceived ideas in a manner which might lead to erroneous conclusions.

Q. What is your reaction to the published report that President Kennedy intended to replace Secretary of State Rusk after the 1964 elections?

A. I have said that President Kennedy had great confidence in Secretary Rusk and his dedication to his job and the interests of the United States, but that I wasn't going to comment on everybody who is writing a book and what they have to say about everybody else.

Q. Are we following the right course in Viet Nam?

A. I support the effort that's being made in Viet Nam by President Johnson. I believe this to be most important. If the effort in Viet Nam becomes merely a military effort, we shall win some of the battles, but we will lose the over-all struggle. The people of Viet Nam need to feel that their future should rest with Saigon and not Hanoi.

We need to give them security — that is going to require police and military action —but at the same time, social, political, economic, educational, agriculture progress has to be made for the peasants of that tragic land. And we need to do much in this field.

Q. Is the civil rights movement entering a phase in which more violence can be expected?

A. I don't think it's necessarily entering a new phase. It should have been anticipated that we were going to have many difficulties. I pointed this out when I was attorney general back in 1961 and 1962 when everybody's attention was focused on the South.

In many ways the North has more difficult and complex problems than the South. Solutions are more difficult. Furthermore, the makeup of the movement is far different than it is in the South. It lacks the religious overtones and it lacks the leadership that the Southern civil rights movement has. The fact that the problems are more difficult and complex in the North suggests more violence may occur in the North.

Cites Democrats For Viet Situation

Republican 'White Paper' Tries To 'Beat' Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Republican "white paper" — made public 18 hours early to try to steal a march on President Johnson — contends that Democratic administrations, not Republican, bear responsibility for the U.S position in South Viet Nam.

Further, the 37-page report argues that some of President Johnson's campaign talk was aimed at making Barry Goldwater appear trigger-happy but may have caused Communists to miscalculate and accelerate the Vietnamese war.

As rebuttal to Johnson's statement that he is carrying out a commitment former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made to Viet Nam in 1954, the white paper said the original U.S. involvement had come under the Truman administration in 1950.

Fearing they might be upstaged by Johnson again, the House Republican leaders Tuesday threw away their script for issuing the white paper and limelight.

It was serious business for the House GOP leaders, who contend Johnson is trying to push them into the background and silence their attempts to criticize some of his policies and present their own.

For a week they let it be known they were going to issue their paper today. They set the unveiling for a news coference at 11 a.m.

Then, with reason for frustration, the House GOP chiefs saw the White House beating them to the punch. On Monday the administration issued its own pamphlet called "Why Viet Nam." Then the White House, breaking the usual afternoon pattern for news conferences, scheduled one for Johnson at 10 a.m. today — one hour before the Republicans'.

With barely time to make the evening newscasts and the early morning editions, the Republicans hurriedly changed plans and made public their white paper immediately. They re-scheduled their news coference for this afternoon, a few hours after Johnson's.

The House Republicans have supported strong actions in Viet Nam, but they have objected to Johnson's saying he is carrying out a 1954 Eisenhower commitment.

In the white paper, the Republicans said:

That Harry S. Truman originally involved the United States in Viet Nam back in 1950, beore the country had been split into north and south, with economic and military assistance.

That Eisenhower's commitment was economic, not military.

That when President Eisenhower left office, "South Viet Nam had a stable and established government.. ..When President Eisenhower left office, there was no crisis in Viet Nam."

The Republicans charged, however, that "the policy of the Democratic administration has too often been uncertain, providing a basis for miscalculations by the Communists. Policy has been altered abruptly. Conflicting policy statements have been issued. Deeds have not matched words."

Autographs Being Sought By Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is looking for autographs and if he can get 218 of them the people of Washington may get to rule themselves.

The autographs the President is seeking represent a majority of the House of Representatives. Where Johnson wants them is on a seldom-used document called a discharge petition.

As the House opens for business today 112 of its members have done as the President — and the Democratic leadership — asked.

One by one they had gone to the well of the House and, by signing the document kept in a drawer to the right of Speaker John W. McCormack's desk, acted to pry the D.C. home rule bill from the District of Columbia Committee.

If 218 sign — there is no time limit — it won't matter what the Southern-oriented Rules Committee thinks of Washingtonians ruling themselves.

If they sign by the end of this week, the home rule bill can come to the House floor Sept. 13, its chances bright for becoming law before Congress adjourns.

The Senate already has passed a home rule bill; home rule has the White House's endorsement and that of the city's Democratic and Republican leaders.

6 'Kickoff' Meetings Set For Scout Aides

"Kickoff" meetings for adult leaders in each of the six districts comprising the Upper Ohio Valley Girl Scout Council, with headquarters at Wheeling, will get under way on Sept. 1 at Moundsville.

The other sessions will be: At Wheeling, Sept. 13; at Steubenville, Sept. 14; at Martins Ferry, Sept. 15; at Shadyside, Sept. 7, and at Cadiz, Sept. 8.

Each district chairman has urged early reservations be made. Fall and winter programs will be discussed.

Mrs. Leo Coulehan is chairman for the District 3 session which will be held at Steubenville.

Glenmoor Auxiliary Selects Treasurer

Mrs. Margaret Thayer was appointed treasurer during a meeting of the Auxiliary of the Glenmoor Fire Department Monday night at the fire hall. She will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Donna Mills, who resigned.

Plans wer emade to attend a meeting of tri-state women's Auxiliaries Sept. 27 at the Dixonville hall. Fund - raising projects were discussed.

Mrs. Nancy Campbell was accepted as a new member.

The next meeting will be Sept. 13 at 7:30 p.m., at the fire hall. Mrs. Florence Thayer, president, presided Monday night.

Red China's Facing Population Problem

GENEVA (AP) — Two U.S. experts say Red China faces a population problem "unmatched elsewhere on earth." They said China may have more than a billion people by 1980.

Irene B. Taeuber of Princeton University and Leo A. Orleans of the National Science Foundation made the report Tuesday to a meeting of 190 experts from 36 nations attending the first conference on family planning. It is sponsored by the Population Council and the Ford Foundation.

Body Found In Fire Aboard Italian Liner

GENOA, Italy (AP) — One body was found today in the 20,000-ton Italian liner Angelina Lauro, and firemen were searching through the still burning ship for six more technicians and workers missing and feared dead.

They were among 1,700 workers who were aboard, refitting the former Dutch liner Oranje Tuesday, when a gas container exploded and set flames raging through the holds.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the president of Nationalist China, says the Chinese on Formosa are not tiring of their noncombatant role because "they have a purpose."

"They are waiting to liberate the mainland of China," said Mme. Chiang, making her first visit to the United States mainland in six years. In Honolulu she said she hoped to see President Johnson, but said on arrival here she has not been invited to the White House.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)— Entertainer Jackie Gleason told 5,000 youths at a Lutheran youth conference to "be friends with God. That's the most important thing in anyone's life."

Gleason welcomed the youths at the opening day of the six-day conference Tuesday over the protest of two churches.

The two churches withdrew their 24 members from the meeting because they objected to Gleason's weekly television show.

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon will visit Viet Nam during a business trip to the Far East, said a spokesman for the former vice president.

Nixon, who said bombing raids should be stepped up against North Viet Nam, will stop at Saigon.

He was scheduled to leave today for Tokyo.

ROME (AP) — The Rev. Gilbert V. Hartke, recently appointed by President Johnson to the National Council of the Arts, is the 1965 winner of the St. Genesius award for the performing arts.

Father Hartke has been chairman of the speech and drama department of the Catholic University of America since 1937.

Vote With Majority

Man Denied Writ In Beaver Case

Beaver County Court this morning denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus by Robert Mott, alias Robert English, of Midland, who is serving a life sentence in Eastern Penitentiary at Rockview. He pleaded guilty to the fatal shooting of another Midland man on Sept. 21, 1949.

Mott was sentenced in December 1949 when he pleaded guilty to the murder of John Henry Washington, shot to death in front of Mott's home at the corner of 5th St. and Penn Ave.

Mott had sought to have his sentence set aside on the grounds that his constitutional rights to have legal counsel were violated in all stages of his trial.

The court held, however, that Mott had the benefit of court-appointed counsel both when he was arraigned and when he pleaded guilty to the murder charges.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I enjoy reading your column every day, and have received so much help that I would like to offer the following ideas:

In making croutons, if you dice frozen bread instead of fresh or stale — the squares will be nice and even.

I also dice bacon while it is frozen. It can be cut (several pieces at a time) lengthwise about three times, and then continue crosswise. It all fries evenly for use in wilted salad, etc.

When using meat tenderizer, instead of using a fork to penetrate the meat, I take my cake breaker—16 prongs instead of four!

JOYCE BURNS.

Wow!

Now, back to the croutons . . . those little quarter-inch squares of toasted bread to put on top of soups and salads that Joyce makes from frozen bread.

This is a great idea.

By cutting the frozen bread with a sharp knife, it will not mash flat as when we cut it after it is toasted. Too . . . the little squares will be toasted on all six sides instead of just two.

I piled all those on a cookie sheet (no need to wait until the bread is thawed), and put it on the top rack of my oven. Bake at 400 until beautifully browned. Stir gently with spoon when top layer gets golden color, so all will brown evenly.

ALWAYS bake more than necessary, cool, and place in a fruit jar with a tightly-capped lid. They keep beautifully without becoming soggy, and are always ready for instant use.

For a change, sprinkle part of them with parmesan cheese as they come from the oven and while they are still warm. When cool, place in separate fruit jar, and use to top lettuce salad, etc.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Many garment manufacturers' labels are sewn on the neck band in the back of a garment—such as sweaters, coats, blouses, etc.

I slip the clothes hanger hook through this label, adjust the garment on the hanger, and hang it over the rod.

SARAH E. RUIGER.

DEAR HELOISE: Empty facial tissue boxes make wonderful containers for storage of trading stamps.

The stamps are easily deposited in the slot in the box, and can be left there until you are ready to past them in the book.

MRS. E. WIERCZOREK.

DEAR HELOISE: May I add this suggestion to your collection of hints?

When it comes time to store your garden tools, protect them the same way many farmers protect their equipment . . . by spreading a thin coating of grease over the unpainted parts of the tool.

This helps keep rust from forming, and comes off as soon as the tool is used again.

CHRIS MATHEWSON.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of discarding worn "cool" cushions (the stiff, mesh type used in cars during hot weather), we save them for our pets.

MARY JANE MILLS.

DEAR HELOISE: I have always had difficulty saving seeds of my favorite flowers until this idea hit me.

As soon as the plants are partly dry, I pull them and put them in a big plastic bag or paper sack.

I leave them in the bag until they are all dry, then shake the bag hard, and all the seeds are at the bottom of the bag.

3 Men Hurt In Calcutta Area Mishap

Three men were injured in a two-car collision on the Smiths Ferry-Calcutta Rd. early Tuesday night, while another escaped injury when his car veered off the same road a few hours later.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said James Russell Lisk, 29, of R.D. 3 was headed east in a 1959 coupe and was passing a car on the crest of a hill when his car sideswiped an oncoming auto operated by William Arthur Hulme, 54, of Calcutta.

Hulme, Lisk and William Easlick, 34, of Auburndale, Fla., a passenger in Lisk's car, suffered bruises and lacerations.

Lisk was charged with improper passing.

Earl L. Collins, 58, of Lisbon R.D. 3 was headed east on the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. at 9 p.m. when he lost control of his 1958 sedan which went off the right side of the road and struck an embankment about a mile east of Calcutta.

John Hershel Miller, 20, of 709 E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, was cited for unsafe operation after his 1965 sedan veered off Route 172 four miles west of Lisbon ta 5:25 p.m.

Miller suffered abrasions and a back injury, officers said.

William S. Gunn, 54, of LaCroft, East Liverpool, was fined $15 on a charge of "passing without ascertaining safety."

Fined $5 each were Kenneth R. Votaw, 19, of Lisbon R.D. 4, excessive speed for highway conditions; Donald K. Eiferd, 18, East Liverpool R.D., operating a motor vehicle without a muffler; Robert T. Neishleb, 23, of Lisbon, speeding. Neishleb's fine was suspended.

Two Youngstown hunters forfeited $15 appearance bonds on charges of failure to display a hunting license. They are Richard Johnson, 18, and Dennis Clever, 24.

Bernard Mandarine, 38, of Minerva forfeited a $20 appearance bond on a charge of passing at an approach to a grade.

Ohio GOP Leaders Silent On Filling Brown's Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republican leaders remained mum today about the possibilities of filling the 7th Congressional District seat vacated by the death Monday of U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown.

Gov. James A. Rhodes met with GOP advisers Tuesday to discuss the vacancy, but his administrative assistant, John McElroy, said no announcement on what action is to be taken will be made until after Brown's funeral in Blanchester Friday.

Rhodes could order a special primary election to select Republican and Democratic nominees for Brown's post, with the election to coincide with the Nov. 2 general election.

Or, he could leave the congressional seat unfilled. Brown's term would have expired Jan. 1, 1967.

Conferring with the governor Tuesday were John Andrews, state GOP chairman, and House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Brown.

Should Rhodes decide on a special primary election, mentioned as possible Republican candidates in addition to Cloud were Rep. Sam Landes, R-Madison; Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs, former state senator and now secretary of the State Personnel Board of Review; Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe; Rep. Charles E. Fry, R-Clark; Rep. Corwin M. Nixon, R-Warren; Clarence Brown Jr. of Urbana, son of the late congressman, and Natural Resources Director Fred Morr of Xenia.

Only Democratic possibility mentioned so far is Jerry R Graham of Springfield, who lost to Brown in 1964.

Crucible on the Label Means Quality Inside

When customers see the Crucible label they expect high quality. They should. That's the reputation we've built in the 65 years we've been in business. Keeping that reputation, however, grows tougher each year as customer demands grow tighter.

At Midland works customer needs are met by the combined cooperative effort of some 6800 people. Each recognizes, as does Robert K. Reighard of the Cold Strip Shipping department, that how well he performs his job determines the end product - customer satisfaction. High customer satisfaction means a continuing high volume of business. Low customer satisfaction can only mean a loss of business to competitors who are ready and willing to take our place. That's why we say that at Crucible, people, working together with plant and capital, determine our progress.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I enjoy reading your column every day, and have received so much help that I would like to offer the following ideas:

In making croutons, if you dice frozen bread instead of fresh or stale — the squares will be nice and even.

I also dice bacon while it is frozen. It can be cut (several pieces at a time) lengthwise about three times, and then continue crosswise. It all fries evenly for use in wilted salad, etc.

When using meat tenderizer, instead of using a fork to penetrate the meat, I take my cake breaker—16 prongs instead of four!

JOYCE BURNS.

Wow!

Now, back to the croutons . . . those little quarter-inch squares of toasted bread to put on top of soups and salads that Joyce makes from frozen bread.

This is a great idea.

By cutting the frozen bread with a sharp knife, it will not mash flat as when we cut it after it is toasted. Too . . . the little squares will be toasted on all six sides instead of just two.

I piled all those on a cookie sheet (no need to wait until the bread is thawed), and put it on the top rack of my oven. Bake at 400 until beautifully browned. Stir gently with spoon when top layer gets golden color, so all will brown evenly.

ALWAYS bake more than necessary, cool, and place in a fruit jar with a tightly-capped lid. They keep beautifully without becoming soggy, and are always ready for instant use.

For a change, sprinkle part of them with parmesan cheese as they come from the oven and while they are still warm. When cool, place in separate fruit jar, and use to top lettuce salad, etc.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Many garment manufacturers' labels are sewn on the neck band in the back of a garment—such as sweaters, coats, blouses, etc.

I slip the clothes hanger hook through this label, adjust the garment on the hanger, and hang it over the rod.

SARAH E. RUIGER.

DEAR HELOISE: Empty facial tissue boxes make wonderful containers for storage of trading stamps.

The stamps are easily deposited in the slot in the box, and can be left there until you are ready to past them in the book.

MRS. E. WIERCZOREK.

DEAR HELOISE: May I add this suggestion to your collection of hints?

When it comes time to store your garden tools, protect them the same way many farmers protect their equipment . . . by spreading a thin coating of grease over the unpainted parts of the tool.

This helps keep rust from forming, and comes off as soon as the tool is used again.

CHRIS MATHEWSON.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of discarding worn "cool" cushions (the stiff, mesh type used in cars during hot weather), we save them for our pets.

MARY JANE MILLS.

DEAR HELOISE: I have always had difficulty saving seeds of my favorite flowers until this idea hit me.

As soon as the plants are partly dry, I pull them and put them in a big plastic bag or paper sack.

I leave them in the bag until they are all dry, then shake the bag hard, and all the seeds are at the bottom of the bag.

Ohio GOP Leaders Silent On Filling Brown's Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republican leaders remained mum today about the possibilities of filling the 7th Congressional District seat vacated by the death Monday of U.S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown.

Gov. James A. Rhodes met with GOP advisers Tuesday to discuss the vacancy, but his administrative assistant, John McElroy, said no announcement on what action is to be taken will be made until after Brown's funeral in Blanchester Friday.

Rhodes could order a special primary election to select Republican and Democratic nominees for Brown's post, with the election to coincide with the Nov. 2 general election.

Or, he could leave the congressional seat unfilled. Brown's term would have expired Jan. 1, 1967.

Conferring with the governor Tuesday were John Andrews, state GOP chairman, and House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Brown.

Should Rhodes decide on a special primary election, mentioned as possible Republican candidates in addition to Cloud were Rep. Sam Landes, R-Madison; Lowell Fess of Yellow Springs, former state senator and now secretary of the State Personnel Board of Review; Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe; Rep. Charles E. Fry, R-Clark; Rep. Corwin M. Nixon, R-Warren; Clarence Brown Jr. of Urbana, son of the late congressman, and Natural Resources Director Fred Morr of Xenia.

Crucible on the Label Means Quality Inside

When customers see the Crucible label they expect high quality. They should. That's the reputation we've built in the 65 years we've been in business. Keeping that reputation, however, grows tougher each year as customer demands grow tighter.

At Midland works customer needs are met by the combined cooperative effort of some 6800 people. Each recognizes, as does Robert K. Reighard of the Cold Strip Shipping department, that how well he performs his job determines the end product - customer satisfaction. High customer satisfaction means a continuing high volume of business. Low customer satisfaction can only mean a loss of business to competitors who are ready and willing to take our place. That's why we say that at Crucible, people, working together with plant and capital, determine our progress.

Local Club Hears Governor

Rotary History Retraced By Hulbert In Visit Here

"On Feb. 23, 1905, at the invitation of Paul P. Harris, an attorney, four men met in an office at Chicago — Harris, a coal dealer, a mining engineer and a merchant sailor. It was agreed that evening that they would organize a club which would be based on the idea that Harris had been developing for the previous five years — that men in business could be and should be personal friends.

"Within two days, they had interested a printer and a real estate dealer in their new venture. Officers were elected and the club was activated. The aim of the first Rotary Club was the encouragement of friendship, fellowship and mutual assistance."

THUS BEGAN the history of Rotary as outlined by Clyde W. (Bill) Hulbert of Hubbard, district governor, who paid an official visit to the East Liverpool club at its noon luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Travelers Hotel.

Shortly after the first club was formed, Hulbert continued, it was realized that a broader purpose could be served.

The organization soon became a factor for the promotion of many different types of community betterment activities, for constructive work with crippled and underprivileged children and for the promotion of high standards in business practices.

Then it spread across international boundaries, eventually growing from its humble beginning in Chicago into its present-day membership of $80,000 men in 12,114 clubs representing 128 countries around the world.

The district governor went on to describe other groups and programs which are sponsored by Rotary, including Interact and the Rotary Foundation.

INTERACT, he said, is an organization consisting of young men of high school age. Interact clubs in the Americas and in Asia cooperate to close the literacy gap and to discourage school dropouts.

The purpose of the Rotary Foundation is to further understanding and friendly relations between peoples of different nations by fostering tangible and effective projects such as Rotary Foundation fellowships, Hulbert explained.

Fellowships have been awarded to more than 1,800 young people representing 70 countries to study abroad, he concluded.

Hulbert, a senior active member of Rotary in Hubbard, is owner of Clyde Hulbert Florists. He joined his father as a partner in the firm in 1956 and assumed sole ownership in 1960.

He is active in many civic organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce, the Community Fund Corp., American Field Service and the Hubbard Township Voters Association. He was charter president of the Hubbard Rotary Club.

Communism Must Be Stopped, Graham Says

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said Tuesday night that "communism has to be stopped somewhere . . . the President believes it should be stopped in Viet Nam."

Graham arrived in Denver for a 10-day evangelistic program beginning Friday. He told members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, that "the world is involved in a battle with communism" and he took exception to clerics who did not back the Johnson administration on its stand in Viet Nam.

Supply Distribution Planned For School District Election

Distribution of voting supplies is being arranged for a special election Tuesday, Sept. 21, in the Wellsville School District on a proposed $846,000 bond issue and a companion half-mill tax levy, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

The supplies will be distributed Monday, Sept. 20, at 6:45 p.m. in the water works office in Wellsville City Hall.

Presiding judges have been notified to telephone the precinct results to the Election Board's office in East Liverpool immediately after the tabulation has been completed. That will enable the Election Board to make a quick count and announce the result a comparatively short time after the polls close.

The presiding judges also have been instructed to return the precinct supplies to the Wellsville water department office immediately after the tabulation has been finished, O'Hanlon added.

Full six - member boards will be used in each precinct, although state law allows the use of an "economy plan" and four-member boards in certain instances in special elections.

The school district is comprised of all of Wellsville City, the Glasgow Precinct of Madison Township and all three precincts of Yellow Creek Township, O'Hanlon said.

A question has been raised on whether the Southwest Precinct of Yellow Creek Township actually is part of the Wellsville district, O'Hanlon said. But a resolution enacted in 1959 by the County Board of Education shows that the precinct in question is part of the Wellsville School District, he said. Some residents of the precinct have maintained it is a part of the Southern Local District, rather than the Wellsville district.

The Election Board has contacted the Wellsville auditor's office and the Yellow Creek and Madison Township clerks for aid in arranging for rental of voting places and transportation of supplies and equipment.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus, contractor, has advised the board it expects to deliver poll books by Sept. 13 for the special election.

The same concern holds the contract for poll books for the Nov. 2 general election. Twenty-seven special questions and issues have been listed to date for the general election, exclusive of statewide propositions. Three statewide propositions already have been certified and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has advised the board there is a possibility one or two more may be added after the state legislature reconvenes Aug. 31.

The 27 questions and issues include two certified by the Stark County Election Board for Alliance City School District, which overlaps into Columbiana County.

O'Hanlon reminded that the county will have 167 precincts at the general election, an increase of two from last November, because of the recent creation of two new polling areas in St. Clair Township.

Police Didn't Have To Kill, Father Says About Slain Son

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—"They could have shot him in the leg . . . they didn't have to kill him," said the father of George T. Hudak, who was shot to death by police Tuesday after tear gas forced him from a house.

George A. Hudak, the father, said his son was "scared about something."

Hudak, 23, barricaded himself in an upstairs bedroom of a house owned by his uncle, Rudolph Hudak. No one was home and the uncle called police when he returned and saw that Hudak was armed with a Belgian automatic pistol.

Police Chief Frank J. Burnosky said Hudak ignored attempts to persuade him to come out. Police lobbed in a tear gas shell when Hudak began to fire at them.

Capt. Raymond Samoila, in charge of an eight-man police unit, said Hudak "jumped out the window after firing a shot and onto a porch roof where he charged, gun in hand, at the officers."

Hudak was hit by three shots fired by patrolman Chester E. Wojtowicz. He said he fired after he saw Hudak in a crouching position, with the gun in his right hand, "pointing at me."

The father said his son, who was unemployed was discharged from the Army several months ago after undergoing mental treatment in Germany and in Washington.

Salesman Guilty Under Ordinance On Blockbusting

CLEVELAND (AP)—A real estate salesman, the first tried in Shaker Heights under the suburb's anti-blockbusting ordinance, was found guilty and fined $50 Tuesday by Municipal Judge John A. Corlett.

Al Mische, 55, of Cleveland had pleaded innocent. He was charged under the ordinance, passed in 1961, which read, in part:

No one shall "incite, arouse or refer to neighborhood unrest, community tension or racial, religious or nationality change in a neighborhood, or on a particular street" when selling property.

Mrs. Ernest O. Pracejus, Shaker Heights, testified Mische called her in answer to a weekly newspaper ad she had run putting her house up for sale.

The woman said Mische told her that her home "was in a changing neighborhood and only colored people would be looking at it." He then offered to sell her house at her prices, plus the real estate commission, Mrs. Pracejus testified.

Communism Must Be Stopped, Graham Says

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said Tuesday night that "communism has to be stopped somewhere . . . the President believes it should be stopped in Viet Nam."

Graham arrived in Denver for a 10-day evangelistic program beginning Friday. He told members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism society, that "the world is involved in a battle with communism" and he took exception to clerics who did not back the Johnson administration on its stand in Viet Nam.

Supply Distribution Planned For School District Election

Distribution of voting supplies is being arranged for a special election Tuesday, Sept. 21, in the Wellsville School District on a proposed $846,00 bond issue and a companion half-mill tax levy, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the County Election Board, said today.

The supplies will be distributed Monday, Sept. 20, at 6:45 p.m. in the water works office in Wellsville City Hall.

Presiding judges have been notified to telephone the precinct results to the Election Board's office in East Liverpool immediately after the tabulation has been completed. That will enable the Election Board to make a quick count and announce the result a comparatively short time after the polls close.

The presiding judges also have been instructed to return the precinct supplies to the Wellsville water department office immediately after the tabulation has been finished, O'Hanlon added.

Full six - member boards will be used in each precinct, although state law allows the use of an "economy plan" and four-member boards in certain instances in special elections.

The school district is comprised of all of Wellsville City, the Glasgow Precinct of Madison Township and all three precincts of Yellow Creek Township, O'Hanlon said.

A question has been raised on whether the Southwest Precinct of Yellow Creek Township actually is part of the Wellsville district, O'Hanlon said. But a resolution enacted in 1959 by the County Board of Education shows that the precinct in question is part of the Wellsville School District, he said. Some residents of the precinct have maintained it is a part of the Southern Local District, rather than the Wellsville district.

The Election Board has contacted the Wellsville auditor's office and the Yellow Creek and Madison Township clerks for aid in arranging for rental of voting places and transportation of supplies and equipment.

The Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus, contractor, has advised the board it expects to deliver poll books by Sept. 13 for the special election.

The same concern holds the contract for poll books for the Nov. 2 general election. Twenty-seven special questions and issues have been listed to date for the general election, exclusive of statewide propositions. Three statewide propositions already have been certified and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has advised the board there is a possibility one or two more may be added after the state legislature reconvenes Aug. 31.

The 27 questions and issues include two certified by the Stark County Election Board for Alliance City School District, which overlaps into Columbiana County.

O'Hanlon reminded that the county will have 167 precincts at the general election, an increase of two from last November, because of the recent creation of two new polling areas in St. Clair Township.

Police Didn't Have To Kill, Father Says About Slain Son

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—"They could have shot him in the leg . . . they didn't have to kill him," said the father of George T. Hudak, who was shot to death by police Tuesday after tear gas forced him from a house.

George A. Hudak, the father, said his son was "scared about something."

Hudak, 23, barricaded himself in an upstairs bedroom of a house owned by his uncle, Rudolph Hudak. No one was home and the uncle called police when he returned and saw that Hudak was armed with a Belgian automatic pistol.

Police Chief Frank J. Burnosky said Hudak ignored attempts to persuade him to come out. Police lobbed in a tear gas shell when Hudak began to fire at them.

Capt. Raymond Samoila, in charge of an eight-man police unit, said Hudak "jumped out the window after firing a shot and onto a porch roof where he charged, gun in hand, at the officers."

Hudak was hit by three shots fired by patrolman Chester E. Wojtowicz. He said he fired after he saw Hudak in a crouching position, with the gun in his right hand, "pointing at me." The father said his son, who was unemployed was discharged from the Army several months ago after undergoing mental treatment in Germany and in Washington.

Salesman Guilty Under Ordinance On Blockbusting

CLEVELAND (AP)—A real estate salesman, the first tried in Shaker Heights under the suburb's anti-blockbusting ordinance, was found guilty and fined $50 Tuesday by Municipal Judge John A. Corlett.

Al Mische, 55, of Cleveland had pleaded innocent. He was charged under the ordinance, passed in 1961, which read, in part:

No one shall "incite, arouse or refer to neighborhood unrest, community tension or racial, religious or nationality change in a neighborhood, or on a particular street" when selling property.

Mrs. Ernest O. Pracejus, Shaker Heights, testified Mische called her in answer to a weekly newspaper ad she had run putting her house up for sale.

The woman said Mische told her that her home "was in a changing neighborhood and only colored people would be looking at it." He then offered to sell her house at her prices, plus the real estate commission, Mrs. Pracejus testified.

Could Send Lawmakers Home

Rhodes Could Use Power On Adjournment Block

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes could use a little-known power to end any legislative deadlock over adjournment.

Rhodes could simply send the lawmakers home, if the two houses bog down in a reapportionment controversy which threatens adjournment.

The Legislature's returns Tuesday from a 17-day recess. It is scheduled to be a one-day session for final adjournment.

But a dispute over reapportionment of the House under federal court "one - man, one - vote" orders could erupt into an adjournment deadlock. Democrats could stall adjournment by with holding votes in the Senate, split 16-16 between the parties.

Both Houses must agree to adjourn. If Senate Democrats refuse to vote on the adjournment motion, they could block its passage.

Senate Democratic Leader Frank W. King of Toledo declined to comment on the possibility of a deadlock. But he has stymied other actions during this session by withholding votes.

House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan said that if a deadlock on adjournment develops "the governor could send them home.

Ohio's constitution gives the governor power, termed "prorogue," to send the legislature home. Two governors have used it to halt special sessions, but the authority has not been invoked since the 1930s.

The Senate has approved a House reapportionment plan. But the Republican - dominated House Rules Committee is changing that measure — and Senate Democrats may refuse to go along with the altercations.

The main stumbling block to agreement is Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), now dominated by Democratic representatives. Democrats oppose any plan which they feel might give Republicans a good chance to crack the solidly Democratic delegation there.

Cloud has said a revised reapportionment plan would be ready for floor action in the House Tuesday.

'Blinded By Sun,' Driver, 22, Says After Car Crash

A 22-year-old motorist told police he was blinded by bright sunlight before a collision Tuesday afternoon on Walnut St. at Bradshaw Ave. that damaged his car and a district woman's auto.

Gary L. Hackathorn, 736 Shafter Ln., was cited by Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins on a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license. His 1959 sedan was involved in a collision at 1:01 p.m. with a 1962 sedan operated by Mahala I. Pethtel, 24, of Shadyside Ave., officers said.

Hackathorn pleaded guilty to the license charge today in Municipal Court. He said his permit expired in July 1964. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff continued his case until Sept. 10 to allow him to obtain a new license.

Hackathorn, driving south on Walnut St., said the sun was shining in his eyes and he did not see the oncoming Pethtel car as he started a left turn onto Bradshaw Ave. The woman said she had halted for a traffic signal at the intersection and as she started to proceed Hackathorn began his left turn, hitting her car.

Order Given To Develop Orbiting Lab

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today ordered the Defense Department to go ahead with a $1.5 billion development of a manned orbiting laboratory (MOL) to find out how useful the military man might be in space.

The decision had long been in the making, but it was announced only a day after the two-man crew of the orbiting Gemini capsule had sighted the launching of a Minuteman missile from California as they sailed far overhead.

The President said that unmanned test flights would start late next year or early in 1967 and that the first of five flights by two-man crews in the manned orbiting laboratory are sceduled for late in 1968.

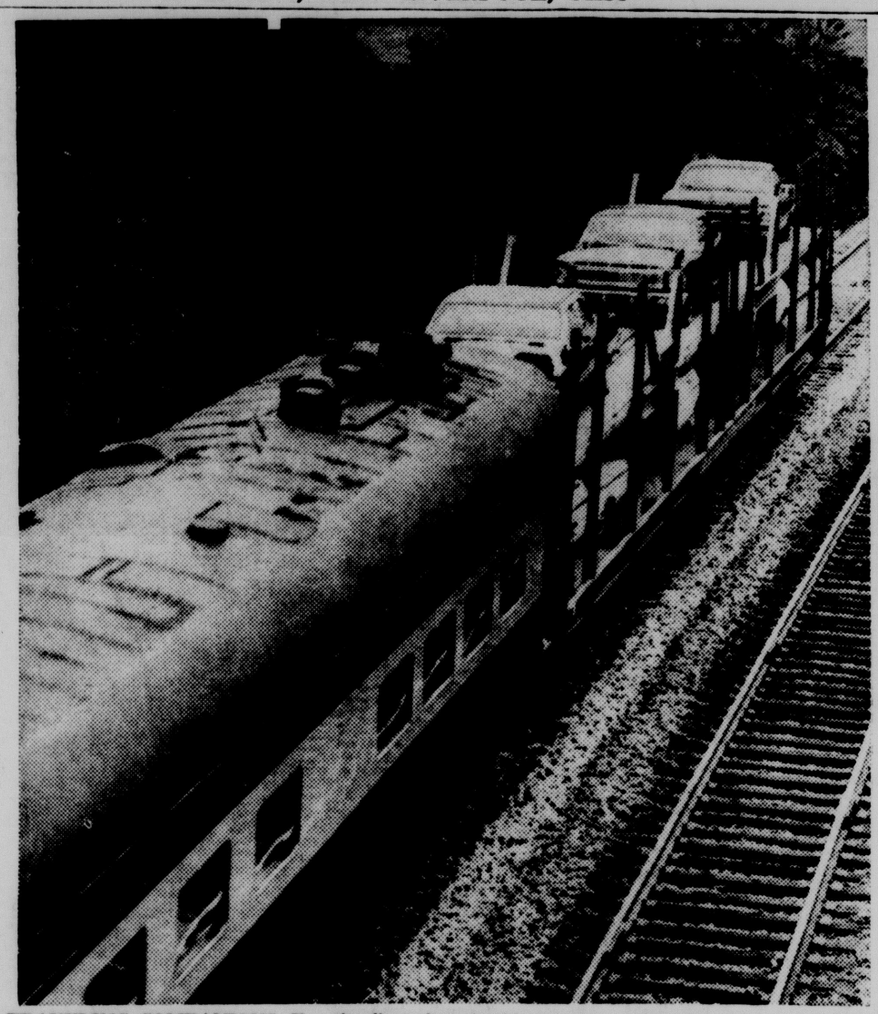
Funds for the project so far have totaled about $30 million, but the new fiscal 1966 military budget contains $150 million more.

Douglas Aircraft Co. has been picked to design and build the space craft, with the General Electric Co. doing the plans and development for space experiments.

Johnson announced the go-ahead decision at a news conference.

The manned orbiting laboratory (MOL) as planned will be a cylinder between 25 and 30 feet long and 10 feet in diameter. Orbiting high above the earth, it will provide facilities for two men to work for periods of up to 30 days.

Unlike the astronauts thus far, the MOL crewmen will not have to wear cumbersome space clothing, but will work in shirt sleeves.



TRAVELING COMPANIONS. For the first time in this country, passengers on a train bound from Chicago to Washington, D. C., can take their cars along. The C&O-B&O Railroad now supplies a special caboose for automobiles.

West Virginia Drops Idea On Fair Pavilion

CHARLESTON (AP) —The state has abandoned the idea of moving the West Virginia Pavilion at the New York World's Fair to the Mountain State when the fair closes Oct. 18.

So the pavilion is being offered to anyone who will take it away. Dismantling will cost about $45,000.

The other alternative is demolishing the $1.1 million building for $17,000.

Pavilion Director Julius W. Singleton Jr. said Tuesday that state officials agreed it "just wasn't economically feasible" to take the building apart —as had been planned — and reconstruct it in Charleston.

Gov. Hulett Smith had hoped to put the building somwhere in the Capitol complex to house the state museum and Department of Archives.

Singleton noted, however, that the pavilion's modern architecture would not harmonize with other state buildings.

Twenty - three other pavilions at the fair are being offered for $1 each to anyone willing to tear them down and remove them, Singleton said.

Contracts for disposal of the pavilions are due to be filed with fair officials by Sept. 1. Pavilions must be removed and sites leveled within 90 days after the Oct. 18 closing date.

Sea Otters Biggest Problem In Preparation For A-Test

AMCHITKA Island, Alaska, (AP) — Seismic experts and engineers are getting this wind-swept Aleutian island ready for an underground nuclear explosion — and their biggest problem at the moment is how to scare the sea otters away.

Once nearly extinct from pelt hunting, sea otters have been making a comeback in the island's rocky coves. Nearly 3,000 of them, which wildlife experts estimate is one-tenth of the world population, live here.

Marine biologists don't know what effect the 80-kiloton blast, scheduled tentatively for late October or early November, will have on the otters. They don't want them to leave the island for good. They do want them out of the way during the tests.

Well, for one thing, you fire a carbide cannon over his cove. This has had some success, but the otters don't seem to stay away quite long enough. So a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service task force tried firing giant firecrackers at the otters with shotguns. It also is experimenting with skyrockets and thinking of hovering helicopters.

The blast, to be set off 2,300 feet down, is expected to melt a cave 400 to 600 feet in diameter in the bed rock.

The main recording will be done at a 10,000-square-mile seismic research station near Miles City, Mont. The purpose of the blast is to enable scientists to pinpoint nuclear explosions and tell them from earthquakes through seismic readings.

Ohio National Guards Team For 'Attack'

CAMP GRAYLING, Mich. (AP)—Ohio Army and Air National Guard units teamed up Tuesday to provide a realistic attack maneuver for men of both organizations undergoing two weeks of summer training.

Three F84F jet fighters of the 180th Tactical Fighter Group, based at Toledo, made several passes at tree top level in close air support of an infantry battalion attack exercise.

West Virginia Drops Idea On Fair Pavilion

CHARLESTON (AP) —The state has abandoned the idea of moving the West Virginia Pavilion at the New York World's Fair to the Mountain State when the fair closes Oct. 18.

The other alternative is demolishing the $1.1 million building for $17,000.

Pavilion Director Julius W. Singleton Jr. said Tuesday that state officials agreed it "just wasn't economically feasible" to take the building apart —as had been planned — and reconstruct it in Charleston.

Gov. Hulett Smith had hoped to put the building somwhere in the Capitol complex to house the state museum and Department of Archives.

Singleton noted, however, that the pavilion's modern architecture would not harmonize with other state buildings.

Contracts for disposal of the pavilions are due to be filed with fair officials by Sept. 1. Pavilions must be removed and sites leveled within 90 days after the Oct. 18 closing date.

Mets Surprise Dodgers As Pirates Trip Giants Again

Harper's Homer Nips Braves 3-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you don't think Jim Maloney's luck has changed, just ask Bobby Bragan.

Bragan's' Milwaukee Braves were one out away from a victory over the Cincinnati fireballer and first place in the National League Tuesday night. Then the Reds' Tommy Harper, Maloney's second four-leaf clover in as many starts, ripped a two-run homer to beat the Braves 3-2.

Tuesday night it appeared Denis Menke's run-scoring grounder in the seventh inning, which snapped a 1-1 tie, would lift the Braves past Maloney and into the league lead. Los Angeles had blown a 4-3 verdict to the last-place Mets and a Milwaukee victory would put the Braves one-half game ahead of the Dodgers in the pennant scramble.

With one out in the ninth, reserve catcher Jim Coker beat out a bouncer to short. Chico Ruiz, hitting for Maloney, grounded to first for the second out but Harper laced a Billy O'Dell fast ball over the leftfield fence for his 15th homer and the ball game.

The Reds' victory, after a 70-minute pre-game meeting called by Manager Dick Sisler, carried them within 2 ½ games of first place. They trail Milwaukee by two games and are one behind third-place San Francisco.

Pittsburgh's Don Cardwell stopped the Giants 5-2 on five hits; Houston edged Philadelphia 4-3 and St. Louis nipped the Cubs 7-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Pinch hitter Johnny Stephenson delivered a three-run double in the ninth, pushing the Mets past Los Angeles. Stephenson connected off reliever Bob Miller after an error by Jim Lefebvre, Ed Kranepool's single and Joe Christopher's safe bunt loaded the bases.

Cardwell, clipped for two runs in the third, blanked the Giants the rest of the way and collected two of Pittsburgh's 11 hits. The Pirates right-hander, now 11-8, singled in the fifth and scored the go-ahead run on Bob Bailey's triple off loser Bob Shaw.

Houston broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth when Rusty Stabul singled, Dave Adlesh walked and Philadelphia reliever Gary Wagner threw wildly to third on pitcher Don Nottebart's sacrifice bunt, enabling Staub to score. The Astros had tied it in the fifth on Jim Wynn's two-run homer off Chris Short.

Tito Francona lashed a pinch single off third baseman Ron Santo's glove, scoring Curt Flood with the winning run in the 10th at St. Louis. The Cardinals had blown a 6-2 lead, with Jim Stewart's ninth-inning sacrifice fly pulling the Cubs even.

Persol Whips Dupree, Seeks Shot At Title

Persol, who has defeated Eddie Cotton and Bobo Olson, enjoyed what he termed an "easy fight" against his fellow New Yorker in Madison Square Garden.

Dupree, the favorite to win his seventh straight bout, stopped the bout himself as 1:59 of the ninth round. He held up his right hand in a gesture of surrender and walked to his corner.

Ludovici's, Monaca Nine Win In Chester Tourney

Ludovici's Pontiac of Chester rallied for three runs in the seventh inning to edge Gold Bar of Salem, 4-3 while the Monaca Croation Club nipped Gallagher's 5-4 in the second game Tuesday night in the Chester Softball Tournament.

A hit batsman and two singles led to three runs for Ludovici's in the seventh inning. Frank Paytors fanned nine batters while Bill Talbot struck out 10.

Home runs by Clendenning, Bob Gallagher and John Owens gave Gallagher's the lead until the seventh when Monaca scored two runs to win.

Twins Are Held By Stottlemyre

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There have been thousands, perhaps millions, of words written and spoken explaining why the New York Yankees are in sixth place this season.

The extensive injury list has been mentioned, and generally poor hitting, and spotty pitching, even old age.

But no one points to Mel Stottlemyre, even though he — probably more than anyone — is responsible for the Yanks being in sixth.

The slim, young right-hander, perhaps the only bright spot in the Yankees' dismal season, hurled a five-hitter at the American League-leading Minnesota Twins Tuesday night, beating them 2-1 and posting his 16th victory of the season.

The Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore 6-5, climbing to within 6 ½ games of the top, Detroit clubbed Kansas City 8-2 and Los Angeles whipped Cleveland 7-1. Boston and Washington split a twi-night doubleheader, the Red Sox taking the first 9-4 and the Senators the nightcap 8-5.

Stottlemyre had some troubles against the Twins, trailing 1-0 until Tommy Tresh unloaded his 20th homer of the season in the eighth. Mickey Mantle, who had singled, scored ahead of him.

Chicago pitcher Bruce Howard singled touching off a four-run third inning rally that carried the streaking White Sox past Baltimore for their 11th victory in 12 games. Howard then checked the Orioles on one run and five hits until the ninth, when he needed relief help. Moose Skowron's two-run single was the big hit in the third.

Jerry Lumpe rapped out three hits and Norm Cash slammed a two-run homer, making it easy for Detroit's Denny McLain to post his 12th victory in the romp over Kansas City.

George Brunet pitched a five-hitter and got all the hitting support he needed from Jose Cardenal and Willie Smith in Los Angeles' victory over Cleveland. Cardenal drove in two runs with a triple and Smith two more with a homer.

Tony Conigliaro drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a single in Boston's first-game victory over Washington, while Frank Howard had four RBI with two doubles and two infield singles in the Senator comeback in the second game. Boston's Rico Petrocelli hit three homers in the twinbill, two in the second game.

Mets Surprise Dodgers As Pirates Trip Giants Again

Harper's Homer Nips Braves 3-2

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you don't think Jim Maloney's luck has changed, just ask Bobby Bragan.

Bragan's Milwaukee Braves were one out away from a victory over the Cincinnati fireballer and first place in the National League Tuesday night. Then the Reds' Tommy Harper, Maloney's second four-leaf clover in as many starts, ripped a two-run homer to beat the Braves 3-2.

Last Thursday Leo Cardenas' 10th inning homer nailed Maloney's first no-hit victory — a 1-0 decision over the Chicago Cubs — after four frustrating near misses.

Tuesday night it appeared Denis Menke's run-scoring grounder in the seventh inning, which snapped a 1-1 tie, would lift the Braves past Maloney and into the league lead. Los Angeles had blown a 4-3 verdict to the last-place Mets and a Milwaukee victory would put the Braves one-half game ahead of the Dodgers in the pennant scramble.

With one out in the ninth, reserve catcher Jim Coker beat out a bouncer to short. Chico Ruiz, hitting for Maloney, grounded to first for the second out but Harper laced a Billy O'Dell fast ball over the leftfield fence for his 15th homer and the ball game.

The Reds' victory, after a 70-minute pre-game meeting called by Manager Dick Sisler, carried them within 2 ½ games of first place. They trail Milwaukee by two games and are one behind third-place San Francisco.

Pittsburgh's Don Cardwell stopped the Giants 5-2 on five hits; Houston edged Philadelphia 4-3 and St. Louis nipped the Cubs 7-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

Pinch hitter Johnny Stephenson delivered a three-run double in the ninth, pushing the Mets past Los Angeles. Stephenson connected off reliever Bob Miller after an error by Jim Lefebvre, Ed Kranepool's single and Joe Christopher's safe bunt loaded the bases.

Lou Johnson drove in all three Dodger runs with a single in the sixth and two-run double in the eighth.

Cardwell, clipped for two runs in the third, blanked the Giants the rest of the way and collected two of Pittsburgh's 11 hits. The Pirates right-hander, now 11-8, singled in the fifth and scored the go-ahead run on Bob Bailey's triple off loser Bob Shaw.

Houston broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth when Rusty Stabul singled, Dave Adlesh walked and Philadelphia reliever Gary Wagner threw wildly to third on pitcher Don Nottebart's sacrifice bunt, enabling Staub to score. The Astros had tied it in the fifth on Jim Wynn's two-run homer off Chris Short.

Tito Francona lashed a pinch single off third baseman Ron Santo's glove, scoring Curt Flood with the winning run in the 10th at St. Louis. The Cardinals had blown a 6-2 lead, with Jim Stewart's ninth-inning sacrifice fly pulling the Cubs even.

Stanton Local Eleven Needs Scrimmage

Stanton Local High School would like to play a scrimmage football game with a Class A High School on Saturday. Anyone interested should call head coach Howard Gilger at the high school, 532-1594, or at home, LE 2-1719.

Persol Whips Dupree, Seeks Shot At Title

Persol, who has defeated Eddie Cotton and Bobo Olson, enjoyed what he termed an "easy fight" against his fellow New Yorker in Madison Square Garden.

Dupree, the favorite to win his seventh straight bout, stopped the bout himself as 1:59 of the ninth round. He held up his right hand in a gesture of surrender and walked to his corner.

Ludovici's, Monaca Nine Win In Chester Tourney

Ludovici's Pontiac of Chester rallied for three runs in the seventh inning to edge Gold Bar of Salem, 4-3 while the Monaca Croation Club nipped Gallagher's 5-4 in the second game Tuesday night in the Chester Softball Tournament.

A hit batsman and two singles led to three runs for Ludovici's in the seventh inning. Frank Paytors fanned nine batters while Bill Talbot struck out 10.

A wild pitch in the last of the seventh gave the Monaca Croations its victory over Gallagher's. John Clendenning was the losing pitcher.

Home runs by Clendenning, Bob Gallagher and John Owens gave Gallagher's the lead until the seventh when Monaca scored two runs to win.

Twins Are Held By Stottlemyre

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

There have been thousands, perhaps millions, of words written and spoken explaining why the New York Yankees are in sixth place this season.

The extensive injury list has been mentioned, and generally poor hitting, and spotty pitching, even old age.

Beaver Local Season Tickets To Go On Sale

Season tickets for Beaver Local's four home games will go on sale Monday at the high school. The season tickets are $5.

But no one points to Mel Stottlemyre, even though he — probably more than anyone — is responsible for the Yanks being in sixth.

Instead of eighth or ninth.

The slim, young right-hander, perhaps the only bright spot in the Yankees' dismal season, hurled a five-hitter at the American League-leading Minnesota Twins Tuesday night, beating them 2-1 and posting his 16th victory of the season.

The triumph tied him with the Twins' Jim (Mudcat) Grant for the most victories in the league and stamped him a distinct possibility as a 20-game winner despite the Yanks poor showing.

The Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore 6-5, climbing to within 6 ½ games of the top, Detroit clubbed Kansas City 8-2 and Los Angeles whipped Cleveland 7-1. Boston and Washington split a twi-night doubleheader, the Red Sox taking the first 9-4 and the Senators the nightcap 8-5.

Stottlemyre had some troubles against the Twins, trailing 1-0 until Tommy Tresh unloaded his 20th homer of the season in the eighth. Mickey Mantle, who had singled, scored ahead of him.

Chicago pitcher Bruce Howard singled touching off a four-run third inning rally that carried the streaking White Sox past Baltimore for their 11th victory in 12 games. Howard then checked the Orioles on one run and five hits until the ninth, when he needed relief help. Moose Skowron's two-run single was the big hit in the third.

Jerry Lumpe rapped out three hits and Norm Cash slammed a two-run homer, making it easy for Detroit's Denny McLain to post his 12th victory in the romp over Kansas City.

George Brunet pitched a five-hitter and got all the hitting support he needed from Jose Cardenal and Willie Smith in Los Angeles' victory over Cleveland. Cardenal drove in two runs with a triple and Smith two more with a homer.

Tony Conigliaro drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a single in Boston's first-game victory over Washington, while Frank Howard had four RBI with two doubles and two infield singles in the Senator comeback in the second game. Boston's Rico Petrocelli hit three homers in the twinbill, two in the second game.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Tommy Harper, Reds, hit two-run homer with two out in the ninth, lifting Cincinnati to a 3-2 victory over Milwaukee.

PITCHING — Mel Stottlemyre, Yankees, limited Minnesota to five hits in pitching New York to a 2-1 victory.

Gibson Takes Over Grid Chores

Bowling Green Seen Solid Choice To Win MAC Title

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, a team that has dominated the Mid-American Conference football picture since 1959, looks like a solid choice to win its second straight league crown.

The Falcons have a new athletic director and a new grid coach but the same old ingredients that stamp them as a power—size, depth and speed.

And Gibson bemoans the fact that graduation took his halfbacks and quarterbacks. But there's still a potent interior line and four All-MAC selections among the 22 lettermen returning from last year's squad that piled up an impressive 9-1 record.

Heralded Stew Williams, a 240-pound fullback who chewed up enemy lines to the tune of 609 yards as a soph, may be moved to halfback to make room for another bull-like runner. He's rookie Tom Luettke, also a 240-pounder, who averaged 6.4 yards per crack as a freshman.

Rebuilding and inexperience are the theme song of the six other teams in the circuit with upstart Kent State given the best outside chance to take it all.

Leo Strang, in his second year at Kent, exudes confidence. "We're a young team but have all the necessary ingredients other than experience," Strang said.

The Kent mentor, who made it big in the high school ranks, has a flock of highly-touted gridders from last year's unbeaten frosh squad to go with 22 lettermen.

Two other perennially tough schools, Miami and Ohio University, appear to have lost too much material to be challenging.

Miami has two strong runners in veterans Don Peddie and Joe Kozar but sensational quarterback Ernie Kellermann has departed. The Redskins probably will go to a ball control game.

Ohio has an outstanding fullback in junior Wash Lyons who led the MAC in rushing as a soph. But Lyons suffered two broken toes in a summer industrial mishap and may not be in top shape. All-conference defensive end Chuck Turner also is back but the Bobcats will sorely miss linemen John Frick, Don Hoovler and Ron Fowlkes.

Marshall, which surprised by finishing in a tie for second place, has one of the league's top passers in Howie Miller and All-MAC center Tom Good. But Coach Charlie Snyder faces the problem of finding replacements for 17 lettermen, eight of whom started on defense.

Toledo has no one to replace steady Dan Simrell at quarterback and banks on 35 sophs to improve a 2-8 record. Guard Steve Erickson is one of the best in the league and soph halfback Pete Kramer is one to watch.

Western Michigan has lost quarterback Troy Allen and lacks speed in the backfield. But the Broncs should be strong defensively, particularly with star end Ken Moon back again.

Ivy League Star Among Players Dropped In AFL

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cosmo Iacavazzi, All-America pride of the Ivy League, and Lee Grosscup, well-traveled quarterback with the literary bent, were among the casualties of the latest American Football League roster cuts.

The eight AFL clubs were required to cut down to 46 players by midnight Tuesday. Rookies who were in the All-Star game at Chicago earlier this month do not count in the 46.

Iacavazzi was one of 11 trimmed by the New York Jets. The star fullback from Princeton was deemed too small, at 5-foot-11 and 206 pounds, to make it as a pro running back. In three exhibition games, he picked up 66 yards on 22 carries.

Grosscup, top draft choice of the New York Giants of the National Football League in 1959 following his scintillating passing career at Utah, was cut loose by the Oakland Raiders. He made stops with Minnesota and San Francisco in the NFL and the Jets before becoming a member of the Raiders' reserve squad last year.

End Dobie Craig, training for his fourth AFL season, also was trimmed by the Raiders. And Preacher Pilot, onetime New Mexico State running flash, was dropped by the Kansas City Chiefs.

Several of those taken off rosters were put on injury reserve list. In this category was Dick Westmoreland of the San Diego Chargers, a standout defensive back who suffered a broken arm two weeks ago.

The Chargers also cut Don Rogers, who had been the team's regular center since the AFL started in 1960, and Henry Schmidt, veteran defensive tackle.

Among NFL cuts Tuesday were rookie quarterback John Torok from Arizona State, by the New York Giants; and defensive back Dick Haley and defensive end Dan LaRose by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Matson Eyes 68-Foot Mark

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Randy Matson thinks he might hit the 68-foot mark in the shot put in the World Student Games — if he doesn't collapse first.

"Everybody seems worried about me and keeps stuffing me with food," the 6-foot-6½ inch giant from Pampa, Tex., said today.

"I've gained 20 pounds since I left Russia and the way I'm going I'll gain 20 more before I get home. People seem to think I'm a growing boy who needs food."

The Texas A and M muscle man, who earlier this year set a world shot put record with a heave of 70 feet, 7 inches, said the hard and harassing Russian trip had trimmed him down to a svelte 240 pounds.

The powerful Texan was sure to be the center of attention when the World Student Games moved today from the swimming pool on Margrit Island, where the Americans dominated, to People's Stadium for track and field.

The Americans dominated the swimming phase with a total of nine gold medals. In Tuesday's concluding events they won the 1,500 meter freestyle, the 400-meter medley relay and the men's platform diving.

Nicklaus Still Leads Golf Money Winners

But Nicklaus continues to lead the money-winners list with $127,445 in official, $11,188 unofficial and $138,633 in total earnings. He is $785 short of the all-time record.

Tony Lema got $35,000 for his first-place finish in the Carling and vaulted from fifth to second in earnings — $98,016

Bowling Green Seen Solid Choice To Win MAC Title

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, a team that has dominated the Mid-American Conference football picture since 1959, looks like a solid choice to win its second straight league crown.

The Falcons have a new athletic director and a new grid coach but the same old ingredients that stamp them as a power—size, depth and speed.

Genial Doyt Perry has moved up as director of athletics leaving the field duties to one of his assistants, Bob Gibson.

And Gibson bemoans the fact that graduation took his halfbacks and quarterbacks. But there's still a potent interior line and four All-MAC selections among the 22 lettermen returning from last year's squad that piled up an impressive 9-1 record.

Heralded Stew Williams, a 240-pound fullback who chewed up enemy lines to the tune of 609 yards as a soph, may be moved to halfback to make room for another bull-like runner. He's rookie Tom Luettke, also a 240-pounder, who averaged 6.4 yards per crack as a freshman.

Rebuilding and inexperience are the theme song of the six other teams in the circuit with upstart Kent State given the best outside chance to take it all.

Leo Strang, in his second year at Kent, exudes confidence. "We're a young team but have all the necessary ingredients other than experience," Strang said.

The Kent mentor, who made it big in the high school ranks, has a flock of highly-touted gridders from last year's unbeaten frosh squad to go with 22 lettermen.

Two other perennially tough schools, Miami and Ohio University, appear to have lost too much material to be challenging.

Miami has two strong runners in veterans Don Peddie and Joe Kozar but senational quarterback Ernie Kellermann has departed. The Redskins probably will go to a ball control game.

Ohio has an outstanding fullback in junior Wash Lyons who led the MAC in rushing as a soph. But Lyons suffered two broken toes in a summer industrial mishap and may not be in top shape. All-conference defensive end Chuck Turner also is back but the Bobcats will sorely miss linemen John Frick, Don Hoovler and Ron Fowlkes.

Marshall, which surprised by finishing in a tie for second place, has one of the league's top passers in Howie Miller and All-MAC center Tom Good. But Coach Charlie Snyder faces the problem of finding replacements for 17 lettermen, eight of whom started on defense.

Toledo has no one to replace steady Dan Simrell at quarterback and banks on 35 sophs to improve a 2-8 record. Guard Steve Erickson is one of the best in the league and soph halfback Pete Kramer is one to watch.

Western Michigan has lost quarterback Troy Allen and lacks speed in the backfield. But the Broncs should be strong defensively, particularly with star end Ken Moon back again.

Grosscup has written a book on football, plus several magazine articles.

End Dobie Craig, training for his fourth AFL season, also was trimmed by the Raiders. And Preacher Pilot, onetime New Mexico State running flash, was dropped by the Kansas City Chiefs.

Several of those taken off rosters were put on injury reserve list. In this category was Dick Westmoreland of the San Diego Chargers, a standout defensive back who suffered a broken arm two weeks ago.

The Chargers also cut Don Rogers, who had been the team's regular center since the AFL started in 1960, and Henry Schmidt, veteran defensive tackle.

Among NFL cuts Tuesday were rookie quarterback John Torok from Arizona State, by the New York Giants; and defensive back Dick Haley and defensive end Dan LaRose by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Matson Eyes 68-Foot Mark

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — Randy Matson thinks he might hit the 68-foot mark in the shot put in the World Student Games — if he doesn't collapse first.

"Everybody seems worried about me and keeps stuffing me with food," the 6-foot-6½ inch giant from Pampa, Tex., said today.

"I've gained 20 pounds since I left Russia and the way I'm going I'll gain 20 more before I get home. People seem to think I'm a growing boy who needs food."

The Texas A and M muscle man, who earlier this year set a world shot put record with a heave of 70 feet, 7 inches, said the hard and harassing Russian trip had trimmed him down to a svelte 240 pounds.

The powerful Texan was sure to be the center of attention when the World Student Games moved today from the swimming pool on Margrit Island, where the Americans dominated, to People's Stadium for track and field.

The Americans dominated the swimming phase with a total of nine gold medals. In Tuesday's concluding events they won the 1,500 meter freestyle, the 400-meter medley relay and the men's platform diving.

Nicklaus Still Leads Golf Money Winners

But Nicklaus continues to lead the money-winners list with $127,445 in official, $11,188 unofficial and $138,633 in total earnings. He is $785 short of the all-time record.

Tony Lema got $35,000 for his first-place finish in the Carling and vaulted from fifth to second in earnings — $98,016

The CHARGE of the CHUCKWAGONS

In trail herd days on the western frontier the ranch cook and his chuckwagon rambled along at the rear of the herd, and it took a stampede or some other catastrophe to shake the team out of a slow trot.

But in some rodeos in Canada and the western United States, the chuckwagon race is one of the wildest and wooliest of all events and close to the top in popularity with the spectators. It's an event unknown to eastern indoor rodeo fans because it needs a large arena inside a racing track.

The wagons, streamlined versions of the old ranch cook's rig, are built to Rodeo Cowboys Association specifications and pulled by four-horse teams. Each wagon has a driver and is accompanied by an outrider on his own horse.

Before the race begins, the outrider on foot holds the team. At the starter's gun, he runs to the rear of the wagon and tosses a stove overboard. The wagons tear off and the outriders mount their horses and go racing after them.

Two of the most prominent chuckwagon races are those held at the Cheyenne, Wyo., Frontier Days Rodeo, where these photos were taken, and the Calgary Stampede in Alberta, Canada.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Allison Mackenzie Will Never Die!

"Allison Mackenzie might go away for awhile, but we'd never kill her," says ABC's West Coast head of programming, Adrian Samish. It was the TV network's answer to a new flock of rumors concerning their hot nighttime soaper, "Peyton Place," and one of its leading characters as played by Mia Farrow, the young lady who went sailing with Frank Sinatra. The whispers that Allison had about had it wafted from two sources.

Hal Humphrey

Despite tight security measures to keep secret the plots of the 30 or so episodes filmed for the TV series, word leaked out two weeks ago that Allison gets run down by a car.

-:-

ABC'S SAMISH says this was the gimmick concocted by Producer Paul Monash to protect them while Miss Farrow was vacationing. Allison would lie in a hospital bed hovering between life and death until Miss Farrow returned.

Would she ever return to Peyton Place? And if she did, could life be the same for her in a town already up to its clavicle in trouble?

Putting 1 and 1 together, even some of the eight writers of "Peyton Place" felt that word would be forthcoming to let Allison die of internal injuries.

"THERE'S NOT a word of truth in it," Samish maintains. "What Miss Farrow did on her vacation is her business. We didn't care where she spent her time, and we are assuming she will return to the studio on Sept. 13 when shooting resumes. She has done nothing immoral."

He did not deny, of course, the possibility of Miss Farrow's deciding to become a real-life wife and retire from "Peyton Place."

"She's too important a character. We might have to let her go away for a time if Miss Farrow didn't return, but then we'd resume the role with another actress," Samish explains.

NO ONE seems to know for sure how many people live in Peyton Place, but there's no doubt that the town has a very high car accident rate. Almost at the outset of the series last fall we saw Rodney Harrington and Betty Anderson in a near-fatal crackup of Rodney's car.

After Joe Chernak is killed accidentally by Rodney Harrington next week, viewers will be treated to a long legal ruckus climaxed when the prosecuting attorney's wife runs down Allison with her car — accidentally, of course.

The National Safety Council may look upon all of this carnage as a good object lesson for viewers, but Detroit's car manufacturers must be wondering if it's a subversive plot by government officials to pressure them into new safety improvements.

SMOKING a pack of cigarettes a day would seem relatively healthy compared to crossing a street or driving a car in Peyton Place, and the cigarette manufacturers already have suggested that if they have to label their product as injurious to health, then Detroit should be made to do the same with its cars.

On the other hand, the population explosion in Peyton Place must be considerably above the national average. At the moment approximately 32 characters are being juggled by the writers, with as many as 20 of these appearing in a given week of three episodes.

At this rate the producer will have to consider expanding life in Peyton Place to four or even five episodes a week. Perhaps all of these accidents are a blessing in disguise.

Pennsylvania Bill Seeks To Extend Sunday Bar Sales

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bipartisan bill to extend Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages in hotels and restaurants in communities outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh was introduced in the House Tuesday.

A 1959 law authorizes hotel restaurants in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to sell alcoholic beverages between 1 p.m. and 10 p.m. Sundays provided at least 55 per cent of their gross sales consist of food and non-alcoholic beverages.

In addition to extending the sales privilege to any community in which the voters approve, the new proposal would include restaurants not associated with hotels.

Early Training Leads To Good Manners

It's rather easy for children over 10 or 12 in cultivated homes to learn to use the fork and knife properly, to say goodbye to the hostess following a party or to introduce a friend. Such social graces are, of course, desirable. But the same children who master such veneer of good manners may be very boorish in hundreds of other everyday social situations — while in a bus, on the way to or from a party or the theater, while attending a game or while with the gang down at the corner drugstore. They don't then feel the restraining influence set by adults in the more formal situations.

Dr. Garry Myers

After all, the test of good manners in a child or youth is the degree of self - control he evinces in the hundreds of situations where he feels no social pressures but habitually feels and exercises consideration for the rights and feelings of all other persons.

—:—

HOW DOES the child who habitually exercises deep regard for the rights and feelings of others get that way?

He gets it by growing up in a home where everybody else feels and exercises such regard, provided he also learns there good self - control.

Now in order to acquire self-control he must have been adequately controlled by his parents, especially in his pre-school years. He must have learned the meaning of No, that he can't nearly always have what he wants when he wants it. He must have learned to wait.

Can you imagine a child who does about as he pleases from the time he begins to toddle, acquiring and exercising good manners most of the time when he is twelve years old?

NO MATTER how refined and cultivated the home in which a child grows up, if this child does not learn adequate inhibitions, he won't grow well in self-control. To this degree he won't acquire a deep regard for the rights and feelings of others, he won't usually exercise good manners.

Often I have in this column emphasized the need of adequate early restraints in the child in order to assure him more abundant love, to render him more safe, and cultivate good character and citizenship in him. Today I'm adding another good reason — that he might acquire good manners.

I should also add that even self - control is not enough. There also must be love and understanding and comfortable family atmosphere. Under such conditions, how easy it is for a child to learn good manners.

By HAL HUMPHREY

Allison Mackenzie Will Never Die!

"Allison Mackenzie might go away for awhile, but we'd never kill her," says ABC's West Coast head of programming, Adrian Samish. It was the TV network's answer to a new flock of rumors concerning their hot nighttime soaper, "Peyton Place," and one of its leading characters as played by Mia Farrow, the young lady who went sailing with Frank Sinatra. The whispers that Allison had about had it wafted from two sources.

Hal Humphrey

Despite tight security measures to keep secret the plots of the 30 or so episodes filmed for the TV series, word leaked out two weeks ago that Allison gets run down by a car.

-:-

ABC'S SAMISH says this was the gimmick concocted by Producer Paul Monash to protect them while Miss Farrow was vacationing. Allison would lie in a hospital bed hovering between life and death until Miss Farrow returned.

Meanwhile, back at ABC headquarters in New York, the top brass was reading and reportedly wincing over the public log of their star's hegira over the bounding main with sailor Frank.

Would she ever return to Peyton Place? And if she did, could life be the same for her in a town already up to its clavicle in trouble?

Putting 1 and 1 together, even some of the eight writers of "Peyton Place" felt that word would be forthcoming to let Allison die of internal injuries.

"THERE'S NOT a word of truth in it," Samish maintains. "What Miss Farrow did on her vacation is her business. We didn't care where she spent her time, and we are assuming she will return to the studio on Sept. 13 when shooting resumes. She has done nothing immoral."

He did not deny, of course, the possibility of Miss Farrow's deciding to become a real-life wife and retire from "Peyton Place."

"She is under contract, and her not returning would be a violation of that contract. We are expecting her back," says Samish.

This is where he flatly denied any possibility of Allison's dying.

"She's too important a character. We might have to let her go away for a time if Miss Farrow didn't return, but then we'd resume the role with another actress," Samish explains.

NO ONE seems to know for sure how many people live in Peyton Place, but there's no doubt that the town has a very high car accident rate. Almost at the outset of the series last fall we saw Rodney Harrington and Betty Anderson in a near-fatal crackup of Rodney's car.

After Joe Chernak is killed accidentally by Rodney Harrington next week, viewers will be treated to a long legal ruckus climaxed when the prosecuting attorney's wife runs down Allison with her car — accidentally, of course.

The National Safety Council may look upon all of this carnage as a good object lesson for viewers, but Detroit's car manufacturers must be wondering if it's a subversive plot by government officials to pressure them into new safety improvements.

SMOKING a pack of cigarettes a day would seem relatively healthy compared to crossing a street or driving a car in Peyton Place, and the cigarette manufacturers already have suggested that if they have to label their product as injurious to health, then Detroit should be made to do the same with its cars.

On the other hand, the population explosion in Peyton Place must be considerably above the national average. At the moment approximately 32 characters are being juggled by the writers, with as many as 20 of these appearing in a given week of three episodes.

At this rate the producer will have to consider expanding life in Peyton Place to four or even five episodes a week. Perhaps all of these accidents are a blessing in disguise.

Pennsylvania Bill Seeks To Extend Sunday Bar Sales

HARRISBURG (AP) — A bipartisan bill to extend Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages in hotels and restaurants in communities outside of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh was introduced in the House Tuesday.

A 1959 law authorizes hotel restaurants in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to sell alcoholic beverages between 1 p.m. and 10 p.m. Sundays provided at least 55 per cent of their gross sales consist of food and non-alcoholic beverages.

In addition to extending the sales privilege to any community in which the voters approve, the new proposal would include restaurants not associated with hotels.

Nuns Balk At Church Order To Give Up Animal Shelter

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church has repeated its order to a group of nuns to give up their animal shelter but 76-year-old Mother Cecilia Mary said Tuesday night she had made the shelter her life work and would not give it up.

"The Church has no authority to close the shelter," Mother Cecilia said. "They don't own the land and I will not give up unless I die."

"It's just a bit of bluff," she continued. "The bishop doesn't like the sisters doing the work and he wants to close it but we will carry on because there isn't anybody else to do it." She was speaking of the Most Rev. Remi De Roo, bishop of Victoria.

Monday two church officials delivered an order to Mother Cecilia and the five elderly nuns who help her. It was from the apostolic delegate in Ottawa, the Most Rev. Sergio Pigenedoli.

The order said of the six: "If any one of them refuses to obey in this matter, then ecclesiastical authority will reconsider their official status in the church as sisters."

This would not mean excommunication, Bishop De Roo said, but the six could continue operating the shelter only if they gave up their religious vows.

Mother Cecilia said: "I have a been a sister for 56 years and will stay a sister till I die. Giving up my vows would require personal consent and I wouldn't give it."

Bishop De Roo said refusal to abandon the shelter and the more than 100 animals leaves the next move up to Rome.

Quebec Waging Polite War On Women's Scanty Attire

QUEBEC (AP) — Quebec's city government is waging a polite war on women wearing shorts and other scanty attire in public places.

Police are passing out a pamphlet to underdressed females telling them: "Involuntarily you have committed an infraction of Bylaw 784 concerning decency and good morals. We ask you, as a way of giving our department your best collaboration, to observe our rules, and we thank you for obliging us."

The pamphlet was written with tourists in mind and tells them: "As a stranger to Quebec, it is possible that you are not aware of our municipal regulations." However, police say most of the 100 women warned so far have been natives, not visitors.

A few scanned the pamphet, then tossed it away "as if they didn't think it important," said Police Chief Gerard Girard.

The chief said that while many citizens have been complaining about underdressed females, no one has been charged yet, "but we will certainly make some examples," he said.

Bylaw 784 requires "the wearing of clothing covering, in decent fashion, the lower as well as the upper portions of the body, in the city's streets or parks."

Cuyahoga Board Rules 25 Petitions Invalid

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cuyahoga County Board of Elections has ruled invalid the petitions of 25 state and local political candidates because of technical errors.

Election Board Clerk Ray C. Miller said Tuesday the candidates probably will not appear on the November ballot. The errors were mainly failure of candidates to fill out petitions according to instructions, Miller said. Affected candidates included Francis E. Gaul, seeking re-election to the State School Board.

Ensign Silver First Male In Nurse Corps

BOSTON (AP) — George M. Silver today becomes Ensign Silver — the first male member of the U.S. Navy Nurse Corps — and joins company with some 2,000 females.

"I'm sort of used to his working with women. It's his job, and his career," she said.

Sally and their son, Gregory, will be on hand when Silver, a Rehoboth, Mass. resident, is sworn into the heretofore "female only" nurse corps. The Navy said he is the first in a new program expanding the corps to include men.

The Republic of Zambia is the former British protectorate of Northern Rhodesia.

3 CARDS OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy in the loss of our beloved husband, son, brother, and uncle Charley R. Huston. Many thanks to those who donated food and the beautiful flowers and the many cards of sympathy. To Rev. Nusser for his comforting words and understanding sympathy, and especially for the many times he called to visit with Charley during lonely shut in days. And to Mr. Howard Green an especial thanks for the many hours he spent with him during those seven long years of helpless blindness and pain. And also the Negley volunteer fire department for their prompt response to our call for their ambulance and to Mrs. Daisy Meek and daughters who served the lunch. # Nuns Balk At Church Order To Give Up Animal Shelter

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church has repeated its order to a group of nuns to give up their animal shelter but 76-year-old Mother Cecilia Mary said Tuesday night she had made the shelter her life work and would not give it up.

"The Church has no authority to close the shelter," Mother Cecilia said. "They don't own the land and I will not give up unless I die."

"It's just a bit of bluff," she continued. "The bishop doesn't like the sisters doing the work and he wants to close it but we will carry on because there isn't anybody else to do it." She was speaking of the Most Rev. Remi De Roo, bishop of Victoria.

Monday two church officials delivered an order to Mother Cecilia and the five elderly nuns who help her. It was from the apostolic delegate in Ottawa, the Most Rev. Sergio Pigenedoli.

The order said of the six: "If any one of them refuses to obey in this matter, then ecclesiastical authority will reconsider their official status in the church as sisters."

This would not mean excommunication, Bishop De Roo said, but the six could continue operating the shelter only if they gave up their religious vows.

Mother Cecilia said: "I have a been a sister for 56 years and will stay a sister till I die. Giving up my vows would require personal consent and I wouldn't give it."

Bishop De Roo said refusal to abandon the shelter and the more than 100 animals leaves the next move up to Rome.

Quebec Waging Polite War On Women's Scanty Attire

QUEBEC (AP) — Quebec's city government is waging a polite war on women wearing shorts and other scanty attire in public places.

Police are passing out a pamphlet to underdressed females telling them: "Involuntarily you have committed an infraction of Bylaw 784 concerning decency and good morals. We ask you, as a way of giving our department your best collaboration, to observe our rules, and we thank you for obliging us."

The pamphlet was written with tourists in mind and tells them: "As a stranger to Quebec, it is possible that you are not aware of our municipal regulations." However, police say most of the 100 women warned so far have been natives, not visitors.

A few scanned the pamphet, then tossed it away "as if they didn't think it important," said Police Chief Gerard Girard.

The chief said that while many citizens have been complaining about underdressed females, no one has been charged yet, "but we will certainly make some examples," he said.

Bylaw 784 requires "the wearing of clothing covering, in decent fashion, the lower as well as the upper portions of the body, in the city's streets or parks."

Cuyahoga Board Rules 25 Petitions Invalid

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cuyahoga County Board of Elections has ruled invalid the petitions of 25 state and local political candidates because of technical errors.

Election Board Clerk Ray C. Miller said Tuesday the candidates probably will not appear on the November ballot. The errors were mainly failure of candidates to fill out petitions according to instructions, Miller said. Affected candidates included Francis E. Gaul, seeking re-election to the State School Board.

Ensign Silver First Male In Nurse Corps

BOSTON (AP) — George M. Silver today becomes Ensign Silver — the first male member of the U.S. Navy Nurse Corps — and joins company with some 2,000 females.

Silver's wife, Sally, says she doesn't object.

"I'm sort of used to his working with women. It's his job, and his career," she said.

Sally and their son, Gregory, will be on hand when Silver, a Rehoboth, Mass. resident, is sworn into the heretofore "female only" nurse corps. The Navy said he is the first in a new program expanding the corps to include men.

The Republic of Zambia is the former British protectorate of Northern Rhodesia.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 25, the 237th day of 1965. There are 128 days left in the year.

On this date in 1835, Ann Rutledge, 22, died in New Salem, Ill., leaving a grieving Abraham Lincoln, then 26. It is believed they were deeply in love; yet historians have been unable to learn anything of their relationship. Despite this, romantic speculation has connected every later act of Lincoln with this brief association with Ann Rutledge.

On this date

In 1774, the first independent assembly in North Carolina decided to prohibit the use of East Indian tea and forbade importation of slaves, starting Nov. 1.

In 1886, the first international polo match was played between English and American teams at Newport, R. I.

Ten years ago—Treasury Secretary George Humphrey said he believed tax cuts would be possible in 1956, but only if additional revenue could be raised.

Ten years ago—Treasury Secretary George Humphrey said he believed tax cuts would be possible in 1956, but only if additional revenue could be raised.

One year ago — South Viet Nam Premier Nguyen Khanh agreed to step aside under pressure of students and Buddhist groups.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS' EYES

QUESTION: Why do most birds have eyes on the sides of their heads?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Most animals either belong to those which hunt or those which are hunted. The hunters must catch prey in order to live. Their eyes are usually in front, so that they can focus together and enable the hunter to see clearly the animal he is to catch. With hunted animals, the great thing is to avoid being caught. Many of them, including most birds, have eyes on each side (1), so that they can see wide areas on both sides and be alert to danger. Birds which hunt insects, as in (2), can cock their heads to one side and focus one eye down on the prey in front to find out just what it is and where it is. The owls are exceptions to the rule that birds have eyes on the side. Hunting at night (3), they need to gather in every ray of light and to focus both eyes on such active prey as mice. So, their large eyes are set in front. The kingfisher has an unusual combination of both front and side view. As we see in (4), his vision extends well to both sides, which enables him to get a wide view of the pond over which he flies looking for fish. But when he spots one, he can look straight ahead and his eyes will focus together. This enables him to see a fish so sharply that he can plunge down and seize it in his bill.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: You may think it impossible to se two things at once as a bird does. But fix your eyes on som point straight ahead and notice how far you can see bot sides. You can pick out objects to the right and left and b actually looking at them both at the sametime.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You seem to believe in psychiatry, which is nothing more than talking people out of mental illness. If this can be done successfully, why can't people be talked out of cancer?

Before you say it's impossible, may I tell you I've known for a long time that all illness begins in the mind. If the mind is healthy, the body is healthy. Even psychiatrists say a sick mind can make a well person sick. So why can't a well mind make a sick person well?

There seems to be a lot of foundation money around for research. Can you help me obtain a grant for this project? It could save millions of lives. Thank you. — TRUE BELIEVER.

Dear Believer: Sorry, I have no influence over foundation money. You are correct when you say a sick mind can make a well person sick. A prominent Minnesota physician estimates that 60 per cent of the patients in hospital beds today are there because of illnesses which began with an emotional problem.

Cancer, however, is defined as the uncontrolled multiplication of cells. Many cancers, when discovered early, have been destroyed or removed and the patients' lives were saved. Psychiatry, which has to do with the exploration and ventilation of emotional problems, cannot stop cancerous cells from multiplying.

Some cancers have been known to "disappear." Such cancers were "self-limiting," which means the body had set up its own immune reactions. (The quacks have a ball with these cases.) Such phenomena have been explained by medical science and are not "out of the blue" miracles, so please don't write and tell me about Aunt Matilda who was cured of cancer by hocus pocus.

Top Secret

Dear Ann: Several days ago my husband and I had dinner in the home of a friend.

For dessert this woman served a delicious banana pie. When I asked her for the recipe she replied, "I'm sorry but it took me a lifetime to collect my recipes and I don't give them out."

I felt as if I had been slapped across the face. I have not spoken to this woman since and I'm not inviting her to a party we are giving next month. My husband says I'm behaving like a child. We want your opinion. —N.J.

Dear N.J.: The woman is not depriving you of something to which you are entitled. The recipe is hers and she told you she didn't wish to share it.

She is a better friend than the babes who don't want to share their recipes but don't have the nerve to admit it and then double an ingredient here and there or leave something out.

Wanted Out

Dear Ann: My husband is a prominent businessman and I work as his secretary. His son by a former marriage comes to the office at least twice a week and walks by me without even speaking. It is apparent that his mother has done a thorough job of poisoning his mind against me.

The boy's father has taken care of all his college expenses, bought him clothes and a car. I feel that I have contributed, too, since I work in my husband's business.

This whole ugly situation has come to a head because the boy is being married next month. My husband has been invited to the wedding. I have not.

Some of my friends say I should go to the wedding with my husband as a matter of principle. What do you say? — NUMBER TWO.

Dear Number: No principle is served if you show up at an affair to which you have not been invited. The "friends" who are urging you to crash the wedding are looking for a little excitement at your expense. Stay home.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If Judge Had His Way Son Would Be Put In Jail

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — If it were up to Circuit Court Judge Peter L. Melius, his 17-year-old son would be in jail today awaiting trial on nine traffic violations charges.

"I wanted to let him stay in jail and get a taste of jail life," the judge said Tuesday, "but my wife wouldn't let me. She insisted on bailing him out."

The boy, Michael, accumulated the charges Sunday night as he eluded Waukegan police in an 80-mile-an-hour chase along city streets.

Police noted his car license number and called the judge. Judge Melius immediately went looking for the youth and found him with several friends trying to extricate the car from a swamp northwest of the city.

"My kid is going to have to face the music just like everybody else," said the judge. "He can expect no help from me."

Undergoes Operation

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Rep. James Kee, D-W.Va., is expected to remain at Bethesda Naval Hospital about two weeks after surgery for hemorrhoids. He underwent the operation Tuesday.

Youth Put In Custody Of Attorney General

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gene Gareau, 19, has been placed in custody of the U.S. attorney general for three years on charges of unlawful possession of firearms. The weapon was a sawed-off shotgun.

Asst. U.S. Atty. James L. Oakar said Gareau, of Rocky River, probably would be sent to a correctional institution or youth camp. Gareau pleaded guilty Tuesday before U. S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti.

The youth was shot through the neck last October when he tried to stab a detective who had tried to arrest him for a traffic violation, federal authorities said.

West Virginia Infant Killed In Home Fire

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP)—Billy James Panascnich, 10-month-old son of Mrs. Mary Lou Panascnich, was killed Tuesday night in a fire which raged through the family's home here.

Slate Fall Kills Miner

SUMMERSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — A slate fall in a Summersville Coal Co. mine at nearby Werth Tuesday took the life of Gerald Leon Grose, 28, of Summersville.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge William K. Thomas of the Cuyahoga County (Ohio) Common Pleas Court has been recommended by Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, for appointment to the federal district court bench for Northern Ohio.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, earlier had sent a letter to President Johnson recommending Thomas and Don Miller, Cleveland lawyer and one of four horsemen of Notre Dame, for the place.

A Lausche aide said the senator did not give preference to either Thomas or Miller in his letter.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: You seem to believe in psychiatry, which is nothing more than talking people out of mental illness. If this can be done successfully, why can't people be talked out of cancer?

Before you say it's impossible, may I tell you I've known for a long time that all illness begins in the mind. If the mind is healthy, the body is healthy. Even psychiatrists say a sick mind can make a well person sick. So why can't a well mind make a sick person well?

There seems to be a lot of foundation money around for research. Can you help me obtain a grant for this project? It could save millions of lives. Thank you. — TRUE BELIEVER.

Dear Believer: Sorry, I have no influence over foundation money. You are correct when you say a sick mind can make a well person sick. A prominent Minnesota physician estimates that 60 per cent of the patients in hospital beds today are there because of illnesses which began with an emotional problem.

Cancer, however, is defined as the uncontrolled multiplication of cells. Many cancers, when discovered early, have been destroyed or removed and the patients' lives were saved. Psychiatry, which has to do with the exploration and ventilation of emotional problems, cannot stop cancerous cells from multiplying.

Some cancers have been known to "disappear." Such cancers were "self-limiting," which means the body had set up its own immune reactions. (The quacks have a ball with these cases.) Such phenomena have been explained by medical science and are not "out of the blue" miracles, so please don't write and tell me about Aunt Matilda who was cured of cancer by hocus pocus.
